The Shame Game Overturing the Toxic Poverty Narrative

Mary O'Hara

PB: 9781447349266    £12.99    232 pages

27 February 2020    Social and Public Policy

What does it mean to be poor in Britain and America? For decades the primary narrative about poverty in both countries is that it has been caused by personal flaws or 'bad life decisions' rather than policy choices or economic inequality. This misleading account has become deeply embedded in the public consciousness with serious ramifications for how financially vulnerable people are seen, spoken about and treated. Drawing on a two-year multi-platform initiative, this book by award-winning journalist and author Mary O'Hara, asks how we can overturn this portrayal once and for all. Crucially, she turns to the real experts to try to find answers – the people who live it.

Mary O'Hara is an award-winning journalist and author specialising in social policy and social justice. She was named International Columnist of the Year in 2017 and 2018 by the Los Angeles Press Club Southern California Journalism Awards for her Guardian column, Lesson From America. She is also an executive producer on the podcast Getting Curious with Jonathan Van Ness and founder of the anti-poverty initiative, Project Twist-It.

Too Hot to Handle? The Democratic Challenge of Climate Change

Rebecca Willis

PB: 9781529206029    £12.99    162 pages

25 March 2020    Environment and Sustainability

World leaders have agreed to limit rises in global temperatures, yet climate issues scarcely trouble domestic policies. Implementing climate solutions successfully through the democratic process requires a radical political shift and an overhaul of the laws and systems that govern our society.

Drawing on interviews with politicians and activists, this book provides an in-depth comparative analysis of international climate policies to examine how we can build impactful democratic solutions to climate change. The author confronts the difficulties of fitting the climate change agenda into the current political system, including how to make it a voter priority, while proposing practical ways forward for climate change politics.

Rebecca Willis is Professor in Practice at Lancaster University. Her research explores political strategies for climate action. She is a trustee of the New Economics Foundation and an associate of Green Alliance.

Slow Computing Why We Need Balanced Digital Lives

Rob Kitchin and Alistair Fraser

PB: 9781529211269    £14.99    224 pages

3 June 2020    Science, Technology and Society

Is it possible to experience the joy and benefits of computing in a way that asserts individual and collective autonomy?

Drawing on the ideas of the 'slow movement', Slow Computing sets out numerous practical and political means to take back control and counter the more pernicious effects of living digital lives.

Rob Kitchin is a Professor in the Maynooth University Social Sciences Institute, Ireland. He is author/editor of a number of books about technology and society, and is a recipient of the Royal Irish Academy's Gold Medal for the Social Sciences.

Alistair Fraser is a Lecturer in Geography in Maynooth University, Ireland. His research engages diverse themes, including rural change, food, music, and digital life.

Race, Taste, Class and Cars Culture, Meaning and Identity

Yunis Alam

PB: 9781447353478    £14.99    184 pages

29 July 2020    Sociology

In subtle and complex ways, cars transmit and modify our identities behind the wheel. As a symbol of independence and freedom, the car projects status, class, taste and, significantly, embeds racialisation. Using fascinating research from drivers, including first-person accounts, as well as exploring hip-hop music and car-related TV shows, Alam unpicks the ways in which our identity is enhanced and driven.

Yunis Alam is a sociologist, working at the University of Bradford. His research interests span ethnic relations, popular culture, ethnography and postcolonial literatures. He has also published a number of novels and short stories.

Deception Russiagate and the New Cold War

Richard Sakwa

PB: 9781447357599    £19.99    256 pages

1 December 2020    Politics and International Relations

The 'Russiagate' affair is one of the most far-reaching political events of recent years. But what exactly was the nature and extent of Russian interference in the campaign that led to the presidency of Donald J. Trump?

Richard Sakwa sets out the dramatic series of events that combined to create Russiagate and examines whether together they form a persuasive account of Russian interference. His authoritative analysis challenges the dominant narrative of overblown claims of Russian interference and collusion.

Richard Sakwa is Professor of Russian and European Politics at the University of Kent, an Associate Fellow of Chatham House and a member of the Academy of Social Sciences. A highly respected scholar of contemporary Russia, he held lectureships at the Universities of Essex and California, Santa Cruz, before joining the University of Kent in 1987 and has published widely on Soviet, Russian and European affairs.

Other Highlights

The New Technocracy

Anders Esmark

Setting a new benchmark for studies of technocracy, this book shows that a solution to the challenge of populism will depend as much on a technocratic retreat as democratic innovation.
