We have categorised our books as appropriately as possible; however, due to the multidisciplinary nature of our list we do recommend that you browse the whole catalogue for titles of interest.

Social Policy & Social Welfare p 2
Comparative & International p 8
Social Policy p 9
Social Theory & Political Philosophy p 10
Public Policy & Governance p 11
Social Inequality, Poverty & Exclusion p 14
Housing & Urban Policy p 16
Community Development p 17
Equality & Diversity p 19
Asylum & Migration p 21
Criminology & Criminal Justice p 23
Public Health & Health Policy p 27
Health & Society p 29
Health & Social Care p 30
Social Work p 32
Children, Young People & Families p 36
Ageing & Older People p 41

JOURNALS

Voluntary Sector Review NEW p 44
The Journal of Poverty and Social Justice p 44
Policy & Politics p 44
Evidence & Policy p 44

Authors Index p 45
Title Index p 46
How to Order p 47
Order Form p 48

E-books

Many Policy Press titles, indicated by the symbol above are now available as e-books and more titles are being added regularly. Forthcoming books marked with this symbol will be available as e-books shortly after publication. They have a separate ISBN and are available in pdf format readable by Adobe Acrobat from the following vendors:

For libraries and other institutions:
- www.dawsonera.com
- www.myilibrary.com
- www.netlibrary.com
- www.ebrary.com
- www.eblib.com

For individuals:
- www.ebooks.com

Book orders

You can post, telephone, fax or email your orders to us, or order online through our website www.policypress.co.uk. For full details see our ‘How to order’ section on page 47.

Inspection copies

We offer inspection copies of many of our titles which are flagged with the symbol above throughout the catalogue. To request your copies visit the ‘How to order’ pages at www.policypress.co.uk or contact your local distributor detailed on the inside back cover.

Publishing proposals

We welcome proposals for books, series or journals from both experienced and first-time authors. If you would like to submit a proposal, please visit our website for full guidelines or contact Karen Bowler (karen.bowler@bristol.ac.uk) to discuss your idea.

Prices and title information

All prices are correct at the time of going to press but are subject to change without notice. Equally, information on titles not yet published is provisional and may be altered.

BASW and The Policy Press

Our partnership with the British Association of Social Workers (BASW) offers the very best in accessible and practical high-quality resources for social workers. We offer a 30% discount to BASW members on all BASW/Policy Press titles, flagged throughout the catalogue. Contact the Sales Team (tpp-sales@bristol.ac.uk) for your authorisation code.

The Policy Press website

Information on all our titles including the complete backlist can be found on our website www.policypress.co.uk. Visit the site regularly to use our fully searchable online catalogue, get details of our new and forthcoming titles, find out about the latest special offers or browse through extracts from selected titles in our reading room.

Join our mailing list

Keep updated with the latest information on our publications and news and receive exclusive special offers by signing up for our email alerts and mailing list. Simply fill in your details on page 48 or join on our website.
Dear Colleague

Welcome to our 2010 catalogue. As well as showcasing our forthcoming books, the catalogue contains details of our more recent and bestselling backlist. Why not visit our new website www.policypress.co.uk to see our full list, special offers and added features. The Policy Press aims to make a positive difference to improving social conditions through its books and journals and this year we have a wide range of new titles aiming to do just that, including:

Injustice

Leading academic and social commentator Danny Dorling considers what makes inequality persist in wealthy developed nations and presents five new tenets of injustice (p 14)

Voyage to Utopias

Something new for students – a fascinating fictional tale introducing key ideas in social and political philosophy in an informative and entertaining way (p 10)

Ferraris for All

Financial journalist Daniel Ben-Ami argues that the spread of prosperity should be seen as positive rather than problematic and society as a whole will benefit from greater affluence (p 14)

Challenging choices

"An indispensable read for everyone fond of freedom and wishing self-assertion ..." Zygmunt Bauman, University of Leeds (p 11)

Migration

An accessible overview of one of the most hotly contested issues in Europe (p 4)

Social Theory for Beginners

An introductory textbook presenting key concepts for first year undergraduates (p 10)

I hope you enjoy the catalogue and find titles that will inform and support your work. We would be very happy to hear from you with feedback and comments on our list. As always, our editorial team will welcome your proposals for new books, journals or series.

Yours,

Alison Shaw
Director, The Policy Press
Understanding Welfare: Social Issues, Policy and Practice series
Series editor: Saul Becker, University of Nottingham

This bestselling series presents topical and innovative approaches to understanding social issues, policies and welfare delivery from leading experts. Accessible and student friendly, each includes chapter-specific summaries, questions for discussion, illustrative boxes and diagrams to help understanding, and full bibliographies.

Understanding theories and concepts in social policy
Ruth Lister, Loughborough University

“An excellent and essential text for students and teachers which will help them get to grips with the whys and wherefores of contemporary social policy.”
Fiona Williams, University of Leeds

A central theme of this lively and accessible text is that theory helps us to understand policy, politics and practice. The book combines an in-depth exploration of selected theoretical perspectives and concepts with the student-friendly format of the Understanding Welfare series. The author uses diverse examples from contemporary social policy to help theoretical arguments come alive. It should provide a key text for second and third year undergraduates and postgraduates in social policy and related subjects, as well as their teachers.

Contents:
Introduction: the whys and what of theory; Part one: Theoretical perspectives in the political arena: Dominant post-war ideological perspectives: from middle way to third way and beyond; Critical perspectives: Marxism, feminism, anti-racism and environmentalism; Part two: Theoretical perspectives as an analytical tool: Post-Fordism and post-modernism; Social control, regulation and resistance; ‘What’s the problem?’: social constructionism; Part three: Concepts: Needs; Citizenship and community; Social justice, equality and liberty; Conclusion: bringing it all together.

PB £19.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 793 0
HB £60.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 794 7
240 x 172mm 256 tbc pages June 2010

Understanding human need
Hartley Dean, London School of Economics and Political Science

“Hartley Dean’s book certainly meets a need: he expertly summarises debates over what human needs are, how they relate to happiness and capabilities, and what they entail for human rights and social policies. An invaluable book.” Ian Gough, University of Bath and co-author of ‘A theory of human need’

Human need is a central but contested concept in social policy and the social sciences. This book provides an accessible overview of the subject using concepts from many disciplines. It presents a unique integrative model that shows how the main approaches may be reflected in social policy goals.

The author engages with recent debates which advance our understanding of human need, including human wellbeing and ‘happiness’; poverty, social exclusion and global inequality; human difference, the diversity of needs and the concept of human capabilities. Most crucially, the book explores how human needs may be translated into rights and how these can be informed by a politics of human need.

Contents:
Introduction; Inherent need; Interpreted need; Poverty, equality and resource distribution; Exclusion, capabilities and recognition; ‘Thin’ needs vs. ‘thick’ needs; Human need and social policy; Translating needs into rights; The politics of human need.

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 190 6
HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 190 6
240 x 172mm 218 pages February 2010

Understanding social welfare movements
Jason Annetts, Alex Law, Wallace McNeish, University of Abertay, Dundee and Gerry Mooney, The Open University (Scotland)

“Until now, studies of social welfare and social movements have pursued largely separate tracks. The authors of this book bring them together, opening a new world of questions. This argumentative and lively book will leap onto ‘must-read’ lists.” Colin Barker, Manchester Metropolitan University

Understanding social welfare movements is the first text to bring together social policy and social movement studies. The book provides a timely and much needed overview of the changing nature of social welfare as it has been shaped by the demands of social movements.

PB £19.99 US$32.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 096 1
HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 097 8
240 x 172mm 304 pages July 2009

Understanding equal opportunities and diversity
Barbara Bagilhole, Loughborough University

“This a timely and useful text which guides the reader through the conceptual, institutional and legal maze that lies behind ‘equal opportunities’ and ‘diversity’.”
Teresa Rees, Cardiff University

This book challenges the official discourse that shapes the debates on Equal Opportunities and Diversity (EO&D) at national, regional and European level and will be a key text for students and researchers of EO&D in many fields.

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 848 7
HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 849 4
240 x 172mm 272 pages April 2009
Understanding social citizenship
Themes and perspectives for policy and practice

Peter Dwyer, Salford University

“A second edition of this excellent book is most welcome. This new edition provides an updated discussion and assessment of all the practical and theoretical issues that students need to know about this important area of study.” Nick Ellison, University of Leeds

This updated and revised edition is still the only citizenship textbook written from a social policy perspective and contains new topical sections on ‘Cameron’s Conservatism’ and the EU and A8/10 migration in the UK. It provides students with an understanding of the concept of citizenship in relation to UK, EU and global welfare institutions; covers a range of welfare debates and issues; explores inclusion and exclusion; combines analysis and discussion of social policies and uses easy-to-digest text boxes.

Contents: Part one: Citizenship and welfare: Introduction: defining citizenship; Two traditions of thought: civic republicanism and liberalism; The development of social citizenship in Britain; Contemporary approaches to social citizenship; Part two: Issues of difference and stratification: Poverty, class, citizenship and welfare; Gender, citizenship and welfare; Disabled citizens?; Race, ethnicity, citizenship and welfare; Part three: Beyond the nation state: Social Europe; Global citizenship?; Conclusions.

HB £65.00 US$105.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 329 0
240 x 172mm 256 tbc pages June 2010

Understanding social security
Issues for policy and practice

Edited by Jane Millar, University of Bath

“This updated second edition of this popular text brings together some of the leading writers in the field to provide a critical analysis of the recent changes to the social security system.” Liam Foster, University of Sheffield

The second edition of this important text reviews policy developments since 1997, giving readers the information and analytical tools to make sense of policy debates and reforms and to evaluate options for the future. The chapters have been extensively updated since the first edition, with new chapters on social security reform, inequalities and social security, and the new ‘welfare market’.

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 186 9
HB £65.00 US$105.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 187 6
240 x 172mm 344 pages February 2009

Understanding research for social policy and practice
Themes, methods and approaches

Edited by Saul Becker and Alan Bryman

PB £22.99 US$39.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 403 8
HB £60.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 404 5
240 x 172mm 448 pages June 2004

Understanding the finance of welfare
What welfare costs and how to pay for it

Howard Glennerster, London School of Economics and Political Science

“...very handy for hard-pressed social policy students.” Community Care, review of 1st edition

The second edition of this bestselling textbook assesses the ways in which health care, personal social services, education, housing, pensions and social security are funded in the UK. The book considers how services are rationed and concludes by asking what future there is for the funding of Western welfare states.

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 108 1
HB £65.00 US$105.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 109 8
240 x 172mm 264 pages February 2009

Understanding the policy process
Analysing welfare policy and practice

John Hudson and Stuart Lowe, University of York

This book explains how and why social policy change occurs. Using core concepts of policy analysis it builds up a fully worked explanation of social policy change that can be applied to welfare policy and public and social policy. This second edition of the book updates the bestselling first edition for the post-Blair era with international case studies.

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 268 2
240 x 172mm 352 pages March 2009

Also available:
Understanding inequality, poverty and wealth
Policies and prospects
Edited by Tess Ridge and Sharon Wright

Understanding health and social care
Jon Glasby

Understanding health policy
Rob Baggott

Understanding the mixed economy of welfare
Edited by Martin Powell

Understanding housing policy
Brian Lund

Understanding global social policy
p 8
Understanding immigration and refugee policy p 22

DON’T MISS
This exciting series offers a guide through some of today’s most hotly contested policy issues by distinguished leaders in the field. Each book untangles current policy debates, looking behind the rhetoric and spin to discover what is at the core of contemporary political agendas. Authors present their own perspectives and make recommendations for what could – or should – be our priorities for future policy reform.

The migration debate

Sarah Spencer, University of Oxford

“A worthwhile and challenging text that I look forward to sharing with my students.”

Nathan Hughes, University of Birmingham

A contribution to one of the most hotly contested issues in Europe, The migration debate provides a well-balanced, critical analysis of UK migration policies, in a European context, from entry controls through to integration and citizenship. This accessible overview offers a considered assessment of policy options to provide the foundation for a less polarised, better informed public debate. Unusual in its coverage of immigration for work, study, family and protection, and in its insistence that integration processes must be considered alongside analysis of entry controls, The migration debate will be of equal value to policy makers as to a multidisciplinary academic readership.

Contents: Introduction: Migration policy in the 21st century; UK migration policy: A historical account; Protection: asylum and refugee policy; Migration for work and study; Family reunion and union; Irregular migrants; Integration and citizenship; Conclusion: Policy making on migration.

198 x 129mm 240 tbc pages September 2010

The housing debate

Stuart Lowe, University of York

“We are increasingly having to rely on housing wealth to fund many aspects of our lives including retirement when recent experience of the housing market shows that this can be a risky strategy. This book offers a timely reassessment of the role of housing in social policy.”

David Clapham, Cardiff University

The emergence of Britain as a fully-fledged home-owning society has major implications for how houses are used not just as a home but as an asset. The key debate in this timely book is whether social policy and people’s homes should be so closely connected, especially when housing markets are so volatile.

The book argues that housing is now rightfully re-established at the forefront of public policy and will be essential reading for all concerned with social and public policy and housing provision.

Contents: The foundations; ‘From a nation of renters to a nation of home owners’; The crisis of state housing and the rise of owner occupation; The new geography of housing; The home-owning society; Housing and the welfare state; A new era for rental housing; Housing in the twenty-first century.

198 x 129mm 240 tbc pages November 2010

The education debate

Stephen J. Ball, Institute of Education, University of London

“The Education Debate is a tour de force not only for its authority and penetration but also ... its accessibility.”

Higher Education Review

Education is a key political issue and seen as a crucial factor in ensuring economic productivity and competitiveness.

In this enthralling book, Stephen J. Ball offers an analysis of the flood of government initiatives and policies that have been introduced over the past 20 years, including Beacon Schools, the Academies programme, parental choice, Foundation Schools, faith schools and teaching standards. He looks at the politics of these policy interventions and how they have changed the face of education.

This bestselling book makes essential reading for student-teachers, other students on politics and social policy courses and for the general reader who wants to get beyond the simplistic analyses of the newspapers.

PB £12.99 US$24.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 920 0

198 x 129mm 236 pages January 2008

The health debate

David J. Hunter, Durham University

“This book is ideal for anyone with an interest in health policy, health systems development and the wider health agenda ...” Health Service Journal

Health care systems across the world are in a state of permanent revolution as they struggle to cope with multiple pressures arising from changing demography, new technologies and limited resources. Focusing on the British NHS, this book offers a fresh look at how it has coped with such pressures over its 60-year history and considers what the future holds. The book explores the complexity of health policy and health services, offering a critical perspective on their development.

The health debate offers a lively and accessible reassessment of successive reforms of the NHS and their cyclical nature. The book will appeal to all students of health care and health policy, and to policy makers and health care professionals.

198 x 129mm 240 pages September 2008

Also available:

Pensions

Michael Hill

198 x 129mm 200 pages May 2007
The Peter Townsend reader
Edited by Alan Walker, University of Sheffield, David Gordon and Ruth Levitas, University of Bristol, Peter Phillimore, Newcastle University, Chris Phillipson, Keele University, Margot E. Salomon, London School of Economics and Political Science and Nicola Yeates, The Open University

“This invaluable collection introduces readers to a wide range of Peter Townsend’s writings over half a century. It is a fitting memorial to an outstanding scholar and campaigner.” Ruth Lister, Loughborough University

Peter Townsend, who sadly passed away in June 2009, had a long career researching an exceptional range of topics within the social sciences and campaigning against social inequalities.

This reader brings together for the first time a collection of his most distinctive work, allowing readers to review changes and continuities over the past six decades, and reflect on social issues that have returned to the fore today. It will provide a resource for students in different disciplines of the social sciences. We hope it will be a fitting memorial to his life and work.

Contents: Introduction; Section I: Sociology and social policy edited by Alan Walker; Section II: From welfare state to international welfare edited by Nicola Yeates; Section III: Poverty edited by David Gordon; Section IV: Inequality and social exclusion edited by Ruth Levitas; Section V: Health inequalities and health policy edited by Peter Phillimore; Section VI: Older people edited by Chris Phillipson; Section VII: Disability edited by Alan Walker; Section VIII: Social justice and human rights edited by Margot E. Salomon.

HB £70.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 405 1
240 x 172mm 704 tbc pages January 2010

Contemporary social evils
Edited by Joseph Rowntree Foundation

“An essential contribution to a much-needed national debate on the society we seek to make for the sake of those who will come after us.” Chief Rabbi, Sir Jonathan Sacks

Which underlying problems pose the greatest threat to British society in the 21st century? A hundred years after its philanthropist founder identified poverty, alcohol, drugs and gambling among the social evils of his time, the Joseph Rowntree Foundation initiated a major consultation among leading thinkers, activists and commentators, as well as the wider public. The findings have now been brought together in this fascinating book.

Individual contributors range across the political spectrum but the book also reports the results from a web survey and consultation with groups whose voices are less often heard. The results suggest that while some evils – like poverty – endure as undisputed causes of social harm, more recent sources of social misery attract controversy.

PB £17.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 408 2
HB £60.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 409 9
234 x 156mm 256 pages June 2009

Experiencing social policy
An introductory guide
Chris Towers, Nottingham Trent University

“The approach taken for this book, and in particular the focus on the impact, or lack of it, of social policy for users, makes it an innovative and valuable introductory text.” Hugh Bochel, University of Lincoln

This unique introductory textbook helps make social policy accessible, relevant and personal to social policy students studying the subject for the first time. Experiencing social policy brings social policy to life. The use of fictional vignettes throughout the book helps the reader reflect on their own personal experiences of policy. The wide scope reflects the diversity of lives in the UK in contemporary society, while the issues of gender, ethnicity, social class, disability, economic migration and ageing are reflected in the case study examples. This essential undergraduate textbook assumes little or no prior knowledge of the topic areas covered and clearly explains key terms and definitions in a historical as well as contemporary focus.

Features and benefits:
• Extensive use of case study material with signposting throughout
• Clearly explained key terms and definitions will help level 1 students with no prior knowledge to understand the basics of the subject
• Written at an introductory level in accessible language to appeal to students
• Focus on the experience of social policy in individual lives will help students make sense of what it means in relation to their lives, work and career aspirations
• Companion website (accessible via www.policypress.co.uk) reflects how students learn online and provides links to wider resources

Contents: What is social policy?; Private lives and public worlds; The history of social policies; Poverty and social security; Work and welfare; Housing and homelessness; Health and health care delivery; Schooling and education; Crime and community; The social policy of later life; Social policy futures.

HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 266 8
240 x 172mm 320 tbc pages February 2011

NEW JOURNAL
Voluntary Sector Review
See p 44 for full details.
The short guide to social policy
John Hudson, Stefan Kuhner and Stuart Lowe, University of York

“This well-written and accessible text steps outside the usual concerns of the UK welfare state to deliver a highly original perspective focusing on key goals, delivery mechanisms and policy dilemmas. This makes it the ideal introduction and ‘short guide’ to social policy.” Martin Powell, University of Birmingham

This introductory text provides a concise introduction to the essentials of social policy, specifically designed for students who are new to the area. It explores the key policy goals, delivery mechanisms and policy dilemmas of the five pillars of welfare and has an international focus, drawing on examples from around the world to illustrate key debates and concepts. It includes a concluding key point summary and detailed guide to further reading in each chapter.

Whether studying for a degree in social policy or a single module in the subject area, this guide, written in a clear and accessible style by experienced authors and teachers, will be indispensable reading.

198 x 129mm 176 pages June 2008

Social policy
Themes and approaches
Paul Spicker, The Robert Gordon University

“There is more food for thought here than in most introductory texts. It captures the very particular approach to the study of social issues that is British ‘social policy’, which is gaining ground internationally. It also gives really helpful advice to any student embarking on this rewarding journey.” Howard Glennerster, London School of Economics and Political Science

The second edition of this leading international text introduces students to the concepts and methods of social policy.

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 063 3
240 x 172mm 320 pages May 2008

Beyond the workfare state
Labour markets, equalities and human rights
Edited by Mick Carpenter, Belinda Freda and Stuart Speeden

HB £60.00 US$90.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 873 9
234 x 156mm 200 pages December 2007

Modernising the welfare state
The Blair legacy
Edited by Martin Powell, University of Birmingham

“For anyone who wants to understand welfare under New Labour and future directions for the welfare state this book is recommended. It is an up-to-date, authoritative and informative explanation of change.” Luke Martell, University of Sussex

This book, the third in Martin Powell’s New Labour trilogy, analyses the legacy of Tony Blair’s government for social policy, focusing on the extent to which it has changed the UK welfare state.

PB £19.99 US$35.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 039 8
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 040 4
234 x 156mm 304 pages September 2008

Evaluating New Labour’s welfare reforms
Edited by Martin Powell

PB £23.99 US$36.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 335 2
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 336 9
234 x 156mm 272 pages July 2002

New Labour, new welfare state?
The ‘third way’ in British social policy
Edited by Martin Powell

PB £21.99 US$35.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 151 8
216 x 148mm 368 pages June 1999

SPECIAL OFFER: BUY ALL THREE BOOKS FOR JUST £50.00. CONTACT MARSTON BOOK SERVICES AND QUOTE MPTO WHEN YOU ORDER TO RECEIVE YOUR DISCOUNT. THIS OFFER IS NOT AVAILABLE ON OUR WEBSITE.

Also available:

Welfare policy under New Labour
Views from inside Westminster
Hugh Bochel and Andrew Defty
HB £60.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 790 9
234 x 156mm 208 pages January 2007

New Labour/hard labour?
Restructuring and resistance inside the welfare industry
Edited by Gerry Mooney and Alex Law
HB £60.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 834 0
234 x 156mm 312 pages October 2007
Reinventing social security worldwide
Back to essentials
Vladimir Rys, University of Geneva

“In this thought-provoking volume, Rys argues that the trend towards a blurring of the roles of social insurance and social assistance must be reversed.” Roddy McKinnon, Editor, International Social Security Review

Prior to the onset of the current financial crisis, global trends of social security in industrialised societies were indicating a progressive disengagement of the state, in favour of tax-financed measures similar to social assistance, which may fail to ensure a basic standard of living.

In this timely book, the author, with his lifelong experience of international social security, advocates reinstating social insurance by reducing the volume of income redistribution, increasing the transparency of money flows and improving citizen information.

It will be of interest to a wide audience, including undergraduate and postgraduate students, researchers and lecturers, policy makers, social partners, professionals dealing with social security institutions and civil society groups.

Contents: Part one: Social security evolution in a global perspective: What is at stake?: A brief history of social security; Essential issues of social protection in our society; Trends of social security in industrialised societies were indicating a progressive disengagement of the state, in favour of tax-financed measures similar to social assistance, which may fail to ensure a basic standard of living.

HB £60.00 US$90.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 641 3
234 x 156mm 256 pages November 2007

Also available:
Social justice and public policy
Edited by Gary Craig, Tania Burchardt and David Gordon
PB £19.99 US$36.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 933 0
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 934 7
234 x 156mm 256 pages June 2008

Making policy in theory and practice
Edited by Hugh Bochel and Sue Duncan
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 904 0
240 x 172mm 264 pages October 2007

Making social policy work
Edited by John Hills, Julian Le Grand and David Piachaud
PB £25.00 US$39.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 957 6
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 958 3
234 x 156mm 256 pages October 2007

Social policy review 22
Analysis and debate in social policy, 2010
Edited by Ian Greener, Durham University, Chris Holden, London School of Hygiene & Tropical Medicine and Majella Kilkey, University of Hull

Social policy review 22 presents an up-to-date and diverse review of the best in social policy scholarship. It brings together specially commissioned reviews of key areas, research examining important debates in the field, and is essential reading for academics and students in the field, and more generally for anyone interested in contemporary social policy.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: Current developments Ian Greener; Education Clyde Chitty; Pensions Paul Bridge; Health Sally Ruane; Social care Mary Langan; Prize-winning paper: Drawing semi-normative poverty lines in family expenditure survey data Chris Deeming; Part two: Current debates Chris Holden; Welfare to work and the recession Colin Lindsay; Facing the dark side of deregulation: regulatory and fiscal interventions in the two-tier labour markets of Germany and Japan Steffen Heinrich; Modern slavery in the United Kingdom: policy and political responses Craig; Mi familia progresa: change and continuity in Guatemala’s social policy Elena Gaia; Part three: Service-user involvement Majella Kilkey: Involving disabled children and young people in research and consultations: issues, challenges and opportunities David Abbott; Participation and social justice Marian Barnes; Service users and social policy: developing different discussions Peter Beresford; Responding to Britain’s unhappy childhoods: enhancing young people’s well-being through participatory action research Charlie Cooper; Service users as peer research interviewers: why bother? Rachel Harding et al.

HB £65.00 US$99.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 711 3
240 x 172mm 304 tbc pages June 2010
Published in association with the Social Policy Association

Speaking to power
Advocacy for health and social care
David Donnison, University of Glasgow

“David Donnison’s book is both challenging and timely. He argues the need for the development of a new kind of advocacy, working alongside disadvantaged and disenfranchised citizens and service users.”

John Benington, Warwick Business School

Anyone working, or planning to work, as an advocate for people who need help in dealing with public services will want to read this book. Based on the experience of real advocates and using case studies based on real practice issues, Speaking to power is written in a vivid, jargon-free style that will make it an enjoyable read for professionals, students and lay people alike.

PB £19.99 US$35.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 037 4
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 038 1
234 x 156mm 176 pages June 2009

Also available:
Policy reconsidered
Meanings, politics and practices
Edited by Susan M. Hodgson and Zoe Irving
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 913 2
234 x 156mm 256 pages November 2007
European societies
Mapping structure and change

Steffen Mau, University of Bremen and Roland Verwiebe, University of Vienna

“This based on an impressive grasp of comparative research the authors succeed in making sense of a ‘transnational’ perspective on the emerging European society.” Klaus Eder, Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin

This comprehensive textbook provides a thorough analysis of the nature of European societies across the expanded EU member states. Using a wealth of data, the authors compare the different dimensions of the territorial and social order of Europe and address a range of issues relating to Europeanisation and key topics such as inequality, migration, poverty, population and family, the labour market and education. Presented in a student-friendly way, it will be an essential read for undergraduate and postgraduate students and academics of sociology, European studies, social stratification, social policy and political sciences.

Features and benefits:
• A key contribution to this topical debate
• Comprehensive account fills an important gap in the market
• Experienced international authors
• Featured topics will be of value to a broad audience
• Covers issues of European integration and the emergence of a European society
• Includes student-friendly features such as tables, diagrams, definitions and room for notes in the margin and methodological explanations

Contents: Introduction; Part one: The European model in historical perspective: Commonalities and intra-European exchange; Characteristics of the European social structure; Part two: European societies compared: Institutional arrangements; Population and family; Migration; Labour market and employment; Education; Social inequality; Quality of life; Part three: European integration: Institutional and political aspects of Europeanisation; European dynamics of inequality; Horizontal Europeanisation; Subjective Europeanisation; Conclusion: Rise of a European society?

Towards a democratic division of labour in Europe?
The Combination Model as a new integrated approach to professional and family life

Walter Van Dongen, Research Centre of the Flemish Government

Towards a democratic division of labour in Europe? starts from the challenge of balancing values of ‘equality’ and ‘freedom’ in all sections of modern societies, introducing the Combination Model as a scientific tool for studying the division of professional and family work and for elaborating adequate policy perspectives.

The global social policy reader
Edited by Nicola Yeates, The Open University and Chris Holden, London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine

“This comprehensive and well-edited reader helps us understand the impact of globalisation and global actors on social problems and programmes across the world AND the debates about what should happen.” Ian Gough, University of Bath

A comprehensive and accessible guide to the key themes, issues and debates in global social policy. This reader collects together key papers by international leaders in the field that cover the emergence of global social policy as a dynamic and expanding field, the transformation of welfare from a predominantly national to a global field of action, and the impact of globalisation on key welfare discourses and governance mechanisms. The global social policy reader will have broad appeal among undergraduate and postgraduate students in a range of social science subjects.

Contents: Rethinking social policy in a globalising world; Global concepts and measures of poverty; Global policy actors, institutions and processes; Globalisations and welfare transformations; Global social policy futures.

Understanding global social policy
Edited by Nicola Yeates, The Open University

“Nicola Yeates has brought together an impressive, coherent collection of contributors providing comprehensive coverage of developments in global social policy across a wide range of policy areas.” Patricia Kennett, Hong Kong Polytechnic University

This is the first student-aimed textbook that comprehensively engages with this growing field of study, examining the key theoretical and policy debates and issues. Written by an international team of leading social policy analysts, it examines the impact of the prefix ‘global’ on the ways in which social policy as a field of study is constructed and explores how the globalising strategies of state and non-state actors intersect with social policy concerns. It provides a historical perspective on current developments and debates in global social policy and focuses on policy processes, content and impacts.

Understanding Welfare: Social Issues, Policy and Practice series
Social welfare and religion in the Middle East
A Lebanese perspective
Rana Jawad, University of Warwick

“This is a ground-breaking analysis of the contribution that religions make to social welfare programmes in the Middle East and to their wider involvement in social and economic development.”
James A. Beckford, University of Warwick

The original analysis in this book presents a new and comprehensive narrative of social welfare in the Middle East through an examination of the role of religious welfare.

HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 953 8
240 x 172mm 328 pages July 2009

Social policy in China
Development and well-being
Chak Kwan Chan, Nottingham Trent University, King Lun Ngok, Sun Yat-Sen University and David Phillips, University of Sheffield

“... the book is a valuable addition to the English language literature on social policy in China.”
British Journal of Social Work

This much-needed new textbook introduces readers to the development of China’s welfare policies since its conception of an open-door policy of 1978.

240 x 172mm 248 pages February 2008

The activation dilemma
Reconciling the fairness and effectiveness of minimum income schemes in Europe
Amilcar Moreira, University of Dublin, Trinity College

“In this splendid study Amilcar Moreira combines social theory and empirical comparison in a novel but convincing analysis.”
Graham Room, University of Bath

This ambitious book explores the employment effectiveness of minimum income schemes, and provides the first comprehensive examination of their dependency on how the rights and obligations of the recipients are defined.

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 797 8
234 x 156mm 296 pages February 2007

Also available:
The Europeanisation of social protection
Edited by Jon Kvist and Juho Saari

Through eleven country studies, this book challenges the common view that social protection is exclusively a national concern with EU social policy fragmented and merely symbolic.

PB £25.00 US$39.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 019 0
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 020 6
234 x 156mm 320 pages September 2007

Europe enlarged
A handbook of education, labour and welfare regimes in Central and Eastern Europe
Edited by Irena Kogan, Michael Gebel and Clemens Noelke, University of Mannheim

“Essential reading for anyone interested in the social transformation of Europe at the turn of the millennium.”
Robert Erikson, Swedish Institute for Social Research

This important reference work describes the educational systems, labour markets and welfare production regimes in the ten new Central and Eastern Europe countries.

HB £75.00 US$135.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 064 0
240 x 172mm 408 pages July 2008
Voyage to Utopias
A fictional guide through social philosophy
Tony Fitzpatrick, University of Nottingham

“Fitzpatrick’s Voyage to Utopias is for social policy what Gaarder’s Sophie’s World was for philosophy (but it’s loads more fun): an outrageous novel to introduce young people to alternative ideologies of welfare.” Hartley Dean, London School of Economics and Political Science

This fascinating fictional account will introduce the reader to key ideas in social and political philosophy. It presents crucial skills of philosophical investigation in an accessible, rigorous and light-hearted way. The novel is funny, informative and entertaining, allowing the reader to experience often complex ideas from the ‘inside’ by using skills they will have acquired, unconsciously, from films, TV and novels. The reader will learn about freedom, responsibility, justice and fairness and see how these are played out in the different utopian futures of a range of socio-political regimes.

A companion website, accessible via www.policypress.co.uk, provides additional material for lecturers and students using the book.

Contents: Scene-setting; Market liberal; Marxist/Communist; Communitarian/Republican; Moral Conservative; Egalitarian/Socialist; Social Democratic; Feminist; Ecological; Return; Notes/Commentary.

PB £12.99 US$20.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 089 3
HB £60.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 098 5
216 x 138mm 256 tbc pages May 2010

---

Applied ethics and social problems
Tony Fitzpatrick

This book shapes a new language of social theory that allows people to embody their differences with a sense of dignity and self-worth. It draws on diverse traditions from Marx, Weber and Durkheim, as well as more recent traditions of critical theory and post-structuralism, and will be of interest to sociology, politics, social work, recent traditions of critical theory and post-structuralism, from Marx, Weber and Durkheim, as well as more.

Contents: Introduction: fragmented identities/social philosophy and cultural studies students. This book offers the broadest historical range of any study of ideas about welfare, and it shows how social context and philosophical approach shape thinking about social provision and the good society.” Peter Taylor-Gooby, Director ESRC Risk Programme

This is the first book to examine the views of a number of theorists from ancient times to the 19th century on a range of welfare issues. The book also looks at the values of the various theorists as well as their perception of human nature which underpins their welfare views. The book will be essential reading for students of social policy, gender issues, community care, social work, and sociology.

Contents: Classical Athens; The Graeco-Roman world; Early Christianity; The Renaissance and the Reformation; Absolutism and liberalism; Early Feminisms; A welfare society; The market, laissez-faire and welfare; Democracy and welfare; Classical Marxism and welfare; Positive freedom and state welfare.

PB £19.99 US$32.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 381 8
HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 382 5
234 x 156mm 256 pages January 2010

---

Embodying identities
Culture, differences and social theory
Victor Jeleniewski Seidler, Goldsmiths, University of London

“This book offers the broadest historical range of any study of ideas about welfare, and it shows how social context and philosophical approach shape thinking about social provision and the good society.” Peter Taylor-Gooby, Director ESRC Risk Programme

This is the first book to examine the views of a number of theorists from ancient times to the 19th century on a range of welfare issues. The book also looks at the values of the various theorists as well as their perception of human nature which underpins their welfare views. The book will be essential reading for students of social policy, gender issues, community care, social work, and sociology.

Contents: Introduction: Who is this book for and how do I use it?; What is social theory?; Where did social theory come from?; Emile Durkheim and the coming of industrial society; Karl Marx, capitalism and revolution; Max Weber, rational capitalism and social action; Talcott Parsons, functionalism and the social system; Social interactionism and the real lives of social actors; Western Marxism, Antonio Gramsci and the Frankfurt School; Language, structure, meaning; Discourse and power; Post-structuralist social theory; Feminist social theory; Reviving theories of modernity: Habermas, Giddens and Bourdieu; Theories of modernity and Post-modernity; Reflexive modernisation: the global dimension and cultural theory; The boundary problem in contemporary social theory; Glossary of key terms; Bibliography.

PB £20.00 US$32.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 674 1
HB £70.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 675 8
240 x 172mm 512 tbc pages May 2010

---

Major thinkers in welfare
Contemporary issues in historical perspective
Vic George, University of Kent

“Treating social theory as an exciting intellectual journey in its own right, this new introductory-level textbook presents the key ideas and concepts in social theory together with an account of their intellectual background. Aimed at first-year undergraduates studying sociology and all related disciplines, it provides an introduction to the major questions and debates facing social theorists and sociologists. Clearly designed presentation and layout features help readers navigate their way around the material.

Features and benefits:
- The only book on social theory undergraduates will need to get through their first year
- Written in an accessible style
- Comprehensive coverage of classical and contemporary theories and concepts
- Extensive examples from everyday life
- Includes student-friendly features such as highlighted key terms with margin explanations and full glossary, tools for understanding, further reading and web resources
- Companion website (accessible via www.policypress.co.uk) reflects how students learn online and provides links to wider resources

Contents: Introduction: Who is this book for and how do I use it?; What is social theory?; Where did social theory come from?; Emile Durkheim and the coming of industrial society; Karl Marx, capitalism and revolution; Max Weber, rational capitalism and social action; Talcott Parsons, functionalism and the social system; Social interactionism and the real lives of social actors; Western Marxism, Antonio Gramsci and the Frankfurt School; Language, structure, meaning; Discourse and power; Post-structuralist social theory; Feminist social theory; Reviving theories of modernity: Habermas, Giddens and Bourdieu; Theories of modernity and Post-modernity; Reflexive modernisation: the global dimension and cultural theory; The boundary problem in contemporary social theory; Glossary of key terms; Bibliography.

PB £20.00 US$32.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 674 1
HB £70.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 675 8
240 x 172mm 512 tbc pages May 2010

---

Social theory for beginners
Paul Ransome, Swansea University

Treating social theory as an exciting intellectual journey in its own right, this new introductory-level textbook presents the key ideas and concepts in social theory together with an account of their intellectual background. Aimed at first-year undergraduates studying sociology and all related disciplines, it provides an introduction to the major questions and debates facing social theorists and sociologists. Clearly designed presentation and layout features help readers navigate their way around the material.

Features and benefits:
- The only book on social theory undergraduates will need to get through their first year
- Written in an accessible style
- Comprehensive coverage of classical and contemporary theories and concepts
- Extensive examples from everyday life
- Includes student-friendly features such as highlighted key terms with margin explanations and full glossary, tools for understanding, further reading and web resources
- Companion website (accessible via www.policypress.co.uk) reflects how students learn online and provides links to wider resources

Contents: Introduction: Who is this book for and how do I use it?; What is social theory?; Where did social theory come from?; Emile Durkheim and the coming of industrial society; Karl Marx, capitalism and revolution; Max Weber, rational capitalism and social action; Talcott Parsons, functionalism and the social system; Social interactionism and the real lives of social actors; Western Marxism, Antonio Gramsci and the Frankfurt School; Language, structure, meaning; Discourse and power; Post-structuralist social theory; Feminist social theory; Reviving theories of modernity: Habermas, Giddens and Bourdieu; Theories of modernity and Post-modernity; Reflexive modernisation: the global dimension and cultural theory; The boundary problem in contemporary social theory; Glossary of key terms; Bibliography.

PB £20.00 US$32.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 674 1
HB £70.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 675 8
240 x 172mm 512 tbc pages May 2010
Challenging choices
Ideology, consumerism and policy

Michael Clarke, Former Reader in Sociology, Liverpool University

"An eye-opening study, indeed! An indispensable read for everyone fond of freedom and wishing self-assertion ..." Zygmunt Bauman, University of Leeds

Choice pervades our society: it is founded on political rights to choose and our economy on market choices, but we have now reached the point where choice is extended almost everywhere.

This lively and topical book provides a critique of choice in contemporary society and policy, arguing that we can have too much of a good thing. And there are alternatives.

In Part one, the author shows how choice works at a personal level, its demands, and how it can fail. By examining healthcare, education and pensions, he then explores the alternatives, such as provision.

In Part two the book reviews the impact of choice through the life cycle, in areas such as careers, relationships, fertility, retirement and death. The author considers whether this enhances or burdens our lives, and questions the assumption that more choice is always for the better.

Contents:
Introduction; Part one: Choice and consumerism: What is choice?; Making choices: just fun?; Choice and the consumer society; When choice does not work; Some wider problems with choice; Part two: Choice and the life cycle: Introduction: choice and the life cycle; Jobs and careers; Lovers, partners, spouses; Fertility and family; Retirement; Death; Part three: Conclusions: Choice and meaning; Conclusion.

PB £19.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 397 9
HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 398 6
216 x 138mm 216 pages February 2010

The governance of problems
Puzzling, powering and participation

Robert Hoppe, University of Twente

"Hoppe subtly explores the problems inherent in traditional rational policy analysis. It is an important contribution to policy analysis." Michael J. Hill, University of Brighton

Contemporary democracies need to develop a better governance of problems: policy is often a sophisticated answer to the wrong problem. This book offers a compelling new approach to public policy making as problem processing, bringing together aspects of puzzling, powering and participation, relating them to cultural theory, issues about networks, models of democracy and modes of citizen participation. Part of a growing body of work in policy analysis literature, the book is ideal for academics and postgraduate students.

Contents:
A problem processing perspective on governance; The governance of problems: a map; Analysing policy problems: a problem structuring approach; Cultures of public policy problems; Problem types and types of policy politics; Problem structuring dynamics and meta-governance; Making policy analysis doable and reflexive; The plural democracies of problems: a meta-theory; Public engagement and deliberative designs; Coda: responsible and hopeful governance of problems.

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 627 7
HB £60.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 628 4
234 x 156mm 240 tbc pages January 2011

Evidence-based policy and the ‘what works’ ideology
Rhetoric and reality

Philip Davies, Oxford Evidentia

"Nobody is better equipped than Philip Davies to write informatively and engagingly about evidence-based policy. His theoretical knowledge and practical experience of the field makes this a unique guide to its intricate contours." Roger Jowell, City University

Evidence-based policy, and doing ‘what works’, has become a dominant theme of politics and policy making worldwide. Tony Blair, Gordon Brown, and David Cameron have all spoken about doing ‘what works in practice’, and President Obama made this a key point in his Inaugural address. This book explores what is meant by ‘evidence-based policy’, and ‘what works’, both as a political ideology and in terms of the practice of policy making. It also examines the possibilities of, and limits to, using research-based evidence in policy making and will therefore appeal to academics and higher-level students as well as politicians, policy makers, researchers and all those who generate information, knowledge and evidence.

Contents:
What is evidence-based policy?; Factors other than evidence in policy making; The limitations of evidence; Research-based evidence; The importance of research synthesis; Monitoring and evaluating the impact of policy; The barriers to using evidence; Getting evidence in policy; Some examples of successful and unsuccessful policy making; Evidence-based policy and the what works ideology: An appraisal.

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 627 7
HB £60.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 628 4
234 x 156mm 240 tbc pages January 2011

Evidence versus politics
Exploiting research in UK drug policy making?

Mark Monaghan, University of Leeds

“This excellent and careful analysis of the dynamic interactions between evidence and policy in UK Drug Policy is exactly what is needed to move forward our thinking about evidence-based policy.” Sandra Nutley, University of Edinburgh Business School

The initial enthusiasm for the evidence-based policy agenda has recently been replaced with increasing scepticism. Critics point out that ‘policy-based evidence’ characterises the relationship more accurately. Analysing the role and nature of evidence in the context of UK drug policy and drawing on a range of theories of the policy process and research utilisation, this book pursues an alternative route for conceptualising the evidence and policy connection, which moves beyond zero-sum statements of evidence-based policy and policy-based evidence. It will be essential reading for students and researchers in public policy and criminology.

Contents:
Background; Evidence-based policy making and the policy process; Drug policy in the UK; Finding evidence for drug reclassification; Using evidence in drug policy; The barriers to using evidence; Nature of evidence in politiced policy areas; Conclusions: wider applications of processual evidence-based policy making.

PB £19.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 697 0
240 x 172mm 256 tbc pages November 2010

DON’T MISS
Modernising the welfare state and New Labour, new welfare state? p 7
Why the Third Way failed
Economics, morality and public policy
Bill Jordan, University of Plymouth

“Bill Jordan has long been an outstanding social worker and social policy writer. In this profound book, he argues that New Labour has over-regulated welfare and even made parts of it a tool of oppression. Scholarly yet dynamic reading.”
Bob Holman, Universities of Glasgow and Swansea and voluntary neighbourhood worker

In the wake of the economic crash, public policy is in search of a new moral compass. This book explains why the Third Way’s combination of market-friendly and abstract, value-led principles has failed, and shows what is needed for an adequate replacement as a political and moral project. It critiques the economic analysis on which the Third Way approach to policy was founded and suggests an alternative to its legalistic and managerial basis for the regulation of social relations. This insightful and progressive book proposes a new moral approach to public policy to replace Third Way governments’ failed attempts to reconcile global markets with ethically informed public policies.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: Value, virtue and justice; Snap judgements and rational choices; Nature, science and cosmology; Part two: What’s economics good for?; Moral regulation; In search of a moral compass; Part three: Sharing income, wealth and work; Sustaining the quality of life; Conclusions.

HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 657 4
234 x 156mm 224 tbc pages September 2010

Also available:

Welfare and well-being
Social value in public policy
Bill Jordan

PB £22.50 US$39.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 080 0
HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 081 7
234 x 156mm 288 pages September 2008

Changing local governance, changing citizens
Edited by Catherine Durose, Stephen Greasley and Liz Richardson

“An invaluable guide for policy makers.”
Matthew Taylor, Chief Executive, RSA

Changing local governance, changing citizens aims to explain what debates about local governance mean for local people.

PB £26.99 US$42.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 217 0
HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 218 7
234 x 156mm 256 pages October 2009

Devolution and social citizenship in the UK
Edited by Scott L. Greer

PB £24.99 US$39.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 035 0
HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 036 7
234 x 156mm 248 pages January 2009

Rethinking the public
Innovations in research, theory and politics
Edited by Nick Mahony, Janet Newman and Clive Barnett, The Open University

“This fascinating book will be an invaluable resource for scholars researching new political formations in topical fields.”
Wendy Larner, University of Bristol

This book rethinks the public, public communication and public action in a globalising and mediated world. It develops novel theoretical perspectives for investigating the formation of publics, focusing on four overlapping processes.

Using fascinating case studies, Rethinking the public offers a rich set of methodological resources and foregrounds the need to interrogate the boundaries between theory, research and politics. It is ideal reading for higher-level undergraduate and masters programmes in a variety of disciplines.

Contents: Introduction; Mediating public participation experiments Nick Mahony; Going public? Articulations of the personal and political on Mumsnet.com Richenda Gambles; Digitising and visualising old media, new media and the pursuit of emerging urban publics Scott Rodgers; Mediating publics in colonial Delhi Gurpreet Bhasin; Public and private on the housing estate: small community groups, activism and local officials Eleanor Jupp; Whose education? Disentangling publics, persons and citizens Jessica Pykett; Fishing for the public interest: making and representing publics in North Sea Fisheries governance reforms, Liza Griffin; Paradoxical publicness: becoming imperceptible with the Brazilian LGBT movement J. Simon Hutta; De-naming the beast: the global call to action against poverty and its multiple forms of publicness Clive Gabay; Conclusions.

PB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 416 7
240 x 172mm 208 tbc pages June 2010

Subversive citizens
Power, agency and resistance in public services
Edited by Marian Barnes, University of Brighton and David Prior, University of Birmingham

“A must-read.”
Fiona Williams, University of Leeds

Citizens’ everyday conduct is shaped by governmental action, yet front-line staff in public services and the people who use them can sometimes modify, disrupt or negate intended policy outcomes. Subversive citizens presents a highly original examination of how official policy objectives can be ‘subverted’ through the actions of staff and users.

PB £26.99 US$42.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 207 1
HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 208 8
234 x 156mm 248 pages July 2009

Using evidence
How research can inform public services
Sandra M. Nutley, Isabel Walter and Huw T. O. Davies

HB £55.00 US$89.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 665 0
234 x 156mm 376 pages March 2007
The consumer in public services

Choice, values and difference

Edited by Richard Simmons, Stirling University, Martin Powell, University of Birmingham and Ian Greener, Durham University

“A must for anyone interested in the future of public services.” Marilyn Taylor, University of the West of England

The consumer in public services critiques established assumptions surrounding citizenship and consumption. Drawing on empirical research, it challenges existing stereotypes about the 'consumer as chooser' and shows how we must develop a more sophisticated understanding of consumers, examining their place and role as users of public services.

HB £65.00 US$99.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 181 4
234 x 156mm 304 pages April 2009

Traffic jam

Ten years of 'sustainable' transport in the UK

Edited by Iain Docherty, University of Glasgow and Jon Shaw, University of Plymouth

“A pungent analysis that slices apart the last ten years' transport policy. The authors intend it to make waves and it will. Required reading for an incoming government.” Jim Steer, Director, Steer Davies Gleave

This informed and lively book offers a timely analysis of the UK government's sustainable transport policy ten years after the publication of 'A New Deal for Transport: Better for Everyone'. The book identifies the successes and failures in government policy over the last decade. The authors also uncover why it has proved so difficult to adopt a more sustainable approach to transport and break Britain's love affair with the car.

PB £24.99 US$45.00 ISBN 9781847420725
HB £65.00 US$110.00 ISBN 9781847420732
240 x 172mm 272 pages October 2008

Leading public sector innovation

Co-creating for a better society

Christian Bason, Mindlab, Denmark

“This book is very timely, drawing on examples from around the world and showing how public services can work with citizens to create better, and more cost-effective, solutions to their needs.”

Geoff Mulgan, Director, The Young Foundation

In a time of unprecedented turbulence, how can public sector organisations increase their ability to find innovative solutions to society’s problems? Leading public sector innovation shows how government agencies can use co-creation to overcome barriers and deliver more value, at lower cost, to citizens and business.

Through inspiring global case studies and practical examples, the book addresses the key triggers of public sector innovation. It shares new tools for citizen involvement through design thinking and ethnographic research and pinpoints the leadership roles needed to drive innovation at all levels of government. Leading public sector innovation is essential reading for public managers and staff, social innovators, business partners, researchers and consultants.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: Platform/Foundation: Theory and approaches to innovation; The double innovation challenge; A model of public sector innovation; Part two: The innovation pyramid: Political and structural framework; Organising for innovation; Leadership and employee involvement; Citizen-centered innovation; Part three: Cross-cutting perspectives: Innovation processes and measurement; The role of top management; Global perspectives.

HB £65.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 634 5
234 x 156mm 208 tbc pages October 2010

From recession to renewal

The impact of the financial crisis on public services and local government

Edited by Jo Richardson, De Montfort University

“This book promises to connect the larger dynamics of crisis, the institutional arrangements of public services and some of the specific locations of the impacts of the crisis.” John Clarke, The Open University

The banking collapse and ensuing global financial crisis has been the subject of much analysis and speculation. One growing certainty is that there will be an impact on the delivery of public services and on local government and governance. This topical book examines and debates the challenges posed, on a local, European and global level, by the imperative to balance a fiscal need for smaller public expenditure with a social need for strong governance and protection of the most vulnerable in UK society. Leading academics in the field of local government contribute to a diverse set of analyses on the impact of the financial crisis.

Contents: Foreword: The financial crisis and the public sector Ken Livingstone; Introduction and current context of the recession and the public Jo Richardson and Colin Copus; The global context of the crisis: from Bretton Woods to market fundamentalism George Lambie; European effects on the UK crisis: solutions for a recovery Stuart Holland; Local political context of the recession Steve Leach and Lawrence Pratchett; Financial methods of intervention Fred Mear; Efficiencies in public sector delivery John Seddon; Choice, personalisation and empowerment in a recession? Tim Brown and Nicola Yeates; Protecting the community from the effects of the financial crisis Jo Richardson; Governmentality: who provides 'public' services and does it matter? Vivien Lowndes and Helen Sullivan; Conclusions and next steps Jo Richardson.

HB £65.00 US$99.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 700 7
234 x 156mm 224 tbc pages November 2010

Leading public sector innovation

Co-creating for a better society

Christian Bason, Mindlab, Denmark

“This book is very timely, drawing on examples from around the world and showing how public services can work with citizens to create better, and more cost-effective, solutions to their needs.”

Geoff Mulgan, Director, The Young Foundation

In a time of unprecedented turbulence, how can public sector organisations increase their ability to find innovative solutions to society’s problems? Leading public sector innovation shows how government agencies can use co-creation to overcome barriers and deliver more value, at lower cost, to citizens and business.

Through inspiring global case studies and practical examples, the book addresses the key triggers of public sector innovation. It shares new tools for citizen involvement through design thinking and ethnographic research and pinpoints the leadership roles needed to drive innovation at all levels of government. Leading public sector innovation is essential reading for public managers and staff, social innovators, business partners, researchers and consultants.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: Platform/Foundation: Theory and approaches to innovation; The double innovation challenge; A model of public sector innovation; Part two: The innovation pyramid: Political and structural framework; Organising for innovation; Leadership and employee involvement; Citizen-centered innovation; Part three: Cross-cutting perspectives: Innovation processes and measurement; The role of top management; Global perspectives.

HB £65.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 634 5
234 x 156mm 208 tbc pages October 2010

Public Policy & Governance
Unequal ageing

DoN’t Miss

Understanding inequality, poverty and wealth

The Peter Townsend reader

Injustice
Why social inequality persists
Daniel Dorling, University of Sheffield

“A geographer maps the injustices of selfish capitalism with scholarly detachment.”
Oliver James, author of ‘Affluenza’

“Beliefs which serve privilege, elitism and inequality infect our minds like computer viruses. But now Dorling provides the brain-clearing software we need to begin creating a happier society.”
Richard Wilkinson, Emeritus Professor of Social Epidemiology and author of ‘The Spirit Level’

Few would dispute that we live in an unequal and unjust world, but what causes this inequality to persist? Leading social commentator and academic Danny Dorling claims in this timely book that in rich countries inequality is no longer caused by not having enough resources to share, but by unrecognised and unacknowledged beliefs which actually propagate it.

Based on significant research across a range of fields, Dorling argues that, as the five social evils identified by Beveridge at the dawn of the British welfare state (ignorance, want, idleness, squalor and disease) are gradually being eradicated, they are being replaced by five new tenets of injustice:

• elitism is efficient;
• exclusion is necessary;
• prejudice is natural;
• greed is good;
• despair is inevitable.

In an informal yet authoritative style, Dorling examines who is most harmed by these injustices and why, and what happens to those who most benefit. Hard-hitting and uncompromising in its call to action, this is essential reading for everyone concerned with social justice.

Contents: Introduction; Inequality: the antecedent and outcome of injustice; ‘Elitism is efficient’: new educational divisions; ‘Exclusion is necessary’: excluding people from society; ‘Prejudice is natural’: a wider racism; ‘Greed is good’: consumption and waste; ‘Despair is inevitable’: health and well-being; Conclusion, conspiracy, consensus.

Ferraris for all
In defence of economic progress
Daniel Ben-Ami, financial journalist

“Daniel Ben-Ami is an important voice for reason and fact in our current economic debates. His book is a probing contribution to understanding the decisive way that economic growth helps everyone, everywhere on the social ladder. Ben-Ami’s style is incisive and entertaining, his argument crucial to understanding our present economic plight.”
Denis Dutton, Editor, Arts & Letters Daily

“No contemporary writer in English is smarter and more convincing on the benefits of wealth to every aspect of society. It’s great to see a book-length treatment of his work.”
Nick Gillespie, Editor-in-chief, Reason

The growth of the economy and the spread of prosperity are increasingly seen as problematic rather than positive – a trend Daniel Ben-Ami has termed ‘growth scepticism’. Prosperity is accused of encourage greed, damaging the environment, causing unhappiness and widening social inequalities.

Ferraris for all is a rejoinder to the growth sceptics. Using examples from a range of countries, including the US, the author argues that society as a whole benefits from greater affluence. Action is needed – but to increase abundance and spread it worldwide, not to limit prosperity, as the sceptics would have it.

Lively and provocative, this timely book will trigger debate and dissent in equal measure.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: The rise of growth scepticism: Growth: supporters and opponents; What is growth scepticism?; The narrowing of horizons: why growth scepticism has come to the fore; Part two: Taking on the sceptics: Better than ever: how our lives have improved immensely; Happiness; Environment; Inequality; Conclusion.

HB £18.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 346 7 216 x 138mm 304 tbc pages June 2010

A generation of change, a lifetime of difference?
Social policy in Britain since 1979
Martin Evans and Lewis Williams, University of Oxford

“An ambitious, imaginative and timely book ... a must-read for students, researchers and policy makers.” Ian Gough, University of Bath

This original book provides an overview of changes in social and fiscal policy since the 1970s, using a unique lifetime simulation approach to analyse how changes in policies would affect people of low, medium and high income living in 1979, 1997 and 2008 if they lived their whole lives under the policy rules in place in these years.

PB £15.95 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 989 7 240 x 172mm 152 pages April 2007

Published in association with the Joseph Rowntree Foundation

Also available:

The idea of poverty
Paul Spicker

Poverty and ethnicity in the UK
Lucinda Platt

PB £15.95 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 989 7 240 x 172mm 152 pages April 2007

Published in association with the Joseph Rowntree Foundation

JOURNAL

The Journal of Poverty and Social Justice

See p 44 for full details.
Drawing on the findings of CASE’s extensive research programme into communities, poverty and family life in Britain, this fascinating series provides a rich and detailed analysis of anti-poverty policy in action, focusing on the individual and social factors that promote regeneration, recovery and renewal.

Phoenix cities
The fall and rise of great industrial cities
Anne Power, Jörg Plöger and Astrid Winkler
London School of Economics and Political Science

“As we embark on a new era of urbanism, based on resilience, equity and sustainability, there’s so much to learn from these ‘boom, bust and recovery’ case studies. A hugely insightful piece of work.”
Jonathon Porritt, Founder Director, Forum for the Future

‘Weak market cities’ across Europe and the US, or ‘core cities’ as they were known in their heyday, went from being ‘industrial giants’ dominating their national, and eventually the global, economy, to being ‘devastation zones’. In a single generation three quarters of all manufacturing jobs disappeared, leaving dislocated, impoverished communities, rundown city centres and a massive population exodus.

So how did Europeans react? And how different was their response from America’s? This book looks closely at the recovery trajectories of seven European cities from very different regions of the EU. Their dramatic decline, intense recovery efforts and actual progress on the ground underline the significance of public underpinning in times of crisis. Innovative enterprises, new-style city leadership, special neighbourhood programmes and skills development are all explored. The US experience, where cities were largely left ‘to their own devices’, produced a slower, more uncertain recovery trajectory. This book will provide much that is original and promising to all those wanting to understand the ground-level realities of urban change and progress.

Contents: Part One: The tale of seven cities; Part Two: Learning from 50 years of boom and bust; Part Three: Are weak market cities recovering or struggling?; Part Four: What can European cities learn from the American experience?; Part Five: Conclusions

240 x 172mm 440 tbc pages March 2010
Published in association with the Joseph Rowntree Foundation

Towards a more equal society?
Poverty, inequality and policy since 1997
Edited by John Hills, Tom Sefton and Kitty Stewart
London School of Economics and Political Science

“Hills is the great authority, the chief examiner most feared and respected, social policy’s equivalent of an Ofsted inspector. This great tome, with its hundreds of graphs and tables, will prove to be the definitive academic judgement.”
Polly Toynbee, The Guardian

As New Labour approaches the end of an unprecedented third term in office, this bestselling book asks whether Britain is more equal than it was in 1997. This second volume, following on from the highly successful A more equal society?, provides an independent assessment of the success or otherwise of New Labour’s policies.

PB £22.99 US$37.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 201 9
HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 202 6
240 x 172mm 432 pages February 2009
Published in association with the Joseph Rowntree Foundation

Also available:

A more equal society?
New Labour, poverty, inequality and exclusion
Edited by John Hills and Kitty Stewart

HB £65.00 US$110.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 578 3
240 x 172mm 408 pages January 2005

DIY community action
Neighbourhood problems and community self-help
Liz Richardson

PB £23.99 US$42.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 084 8
HB £65.00 US$110.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 085 5
240 x 172mm 304 pages March 2008

Poverty Street
Ruth Lupton

PB £23.99 US$35.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 535 6
HB £60.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 536 3
240 x 172mm 256 pages November 2003

East Enders
Katharine Mumford and Anne Power

PB £21.99 US$34.50 ISBN 978 1 86134 496 0
HB £60.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 497 7
240 x 172mm 328 pages May 2003

Also available:
The housing debate

Don't Miss

The housing debate  p 4

The rural housing question
Community and planning in Britain's countrysides

Madhu Satsangi, University of Stirling, Nick Gallent, University College London and Mark Bevan, University of York

"Nick Gallent and colleagues build on their already extensive repertoire of insights on British rural housing in this volume, providing a comprehensive assessment of policy issues and conundrums for key rural housing questions."

Keith Hoggart, King's College, London

For the past century, governments have been repeatedly compelled to return to the search for solutions to the housing and economic challenges posed by a restructuring countryside. The rural housing question is an analysis of the complexity of housing and development tensions in rural areas. It analyses a range of topics and attempts to isolate the fundamental tensions that give the rural housing question an intractable quality. The book is aimed at policy makers, researchers, students and anyone with an interest in the future of the British countryside.

Contents: Part one: Dissecting the rural housing question: Introduction; The British countryside: nostalgia, romanticism and intervention; 'Protect and consume': understanding the orthodoxy of planning response; The components of the rural housing question; Part two: Components of the rural housing question: The existing policy framework; Planning and land for housing (supply); Private house building (supply); Planning and the rural economy (local demand); Migration and 'adventitious purchasers' (demand); Second homes and recreational pressure; Retirement and ageing; Intervening to 'protect' local interests and promote local needs; Planning and affordable housing; Social housing in rural areas; The private rented sector; Expanding low-cost home ownership; Rural homelessness; Community initiative; Part three: Answering the rural housing question: Seeking answers from overseas; Reviewing the evidence; Working with communities; Challenging 'protect and consume'.

HB £55.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 385 6
240 x 172mm 304 tbc pages September 2010

Housing policy transformed
The right to buy and the desire to own

Peter King, De Montfort University

"When I showed Mrs Thatcher figures suggesting she should give away all council housing to tenants her instant reply was 'people will not value them unless they pay at least something for them'. These and many more memories of RTB came flooding back as I read King's exceptionally good book."

John Blundell, formerly Director of the Institute of Economic Affairs

The Right to Buy is the most controversial housing policy of the last 30 years, but it is also the most successful. This book seeks to understand the Right to Buy on its own terms. It explains how the policy links with a coherent ideology based on self-interest and the care of things close to us – instead of a policy that sought to do things for people, the Right to Buy allowed people to do things for themselves.

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 213 2
240 x 172mm 136 pages January 2010

Housing transitions through the life course
Aspirations, needs and policy

Andrew Beer and Debbie Faulkner, Flinders University, Adelaide with Chris Paris, University of Ulster and Terry Clower, University of North Texas

"A hugely impressive book.... Bang up-to-date and highly readable. A much recommended read."

David Bailey, Coventry University Business School

The housing we live in shapes individual access to jobs, health, well-being and communities. There are also substantial differences between generations regarding the type of housing they aspire to live in, their attitudes to housing costs, the nature of their households and their attitudes to different tenures. This important contribution to the literature shows how lifetime attitudes to housing have changed, with new population dynamics driving the market and a greater emphasis on consumption. It also considers how the global financial crisis has differentially affected housing markets across the globe, with variable impacts on the long-term housing transitions of different populations.

Contents: Housing markets and policy in the 21st century; Housing over the life course: housing histories, careers, pathways and transitions; Housing transitions and housing policy: international context and policy transfer; The housing transitions of younger adults; Housing transitions in mid-life; Housing transitions in later life; Housing transitions and disability; Housing transitions, economic restructuring and the marginalised; Conclusion: negotiating the housing market in the 21st century.

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 428 0
240 x 172mm 208 tbc pages November 2010

The theory and practice of tenant participation
Their house, your home

Martin Davis, De Montfort University and Liz Millward Hayes, Cardiff School of Health Sciences, University of Wales Institute, Cardiff

Tenant participation is important in a number of significant policy areas, and in debates about the role of the individual in society. This book looks at tenant participation from the perspectives of housing policy, practice and law, as well as considering the changes brought by population changes, devolution and the internet revolution and shows that current policies have deep roots. Tenant participation has come of age, and it is time for a reasoned evaluation. The book is directed at students, policy makers, tenant activists and board members.

Contents: Introduction to tenant participation; The history of tenant activism; Self-help, mutuality and co-operation; Tenant participation policy: contracts to compacts; Tenant participation and the law; Tenant participation since devolution; Collectives and experts; Including everyone; Can tenants be empowered?; Is partnership possible?

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 399 3
240 x 172mm 256 tbc pages April 2011
Social entrepreneurship
A skills approach
Edited by Robert Gunn, University of York and Chris Durkin, Northampton University College

"Globally social entrepreneurship is innovatively addressing social issues. But innovation and efficiency depend on entrepreneurs and institutions having the necessary knowledge and skills. This book’s highly experienced contributors will help social enterprise meet that challenge."
Roger Spear, The Open University

Outstanding social entrepreneurs inspire students, transform communities, and ignite innovative approaches to solving social needs. This timely book has been inspired by the increasing interest around social entrepreneurship scholarship and the practice of delivering innovative solutions to social issues. The in-depth theoretical study of stakeholder engagement, financial options, leadership management and organisational challenges is complemented by compelling international case studies of real social enterprise success. The book will be essential reading for students, academics, practitioners and entrepreneurs.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: Skills in policy analysis: The place of social entrepreneurship in contemporary UK policy Ian Buchanan; What do we mean by the term ‘social enterprise’? Gladius Kulungungan; Part two: Key skills for social entrepreneurship: Identifying need Richard Bryant; Stakeholder participation and involvement in social enterprises Chris Durkin and Robert Gunn; Financing of social enterprise Wray Irwin; Financial planning for social enterprises Andrew Ferguson; The challenge and risks of innovation in social entrepreneurship Tim Curtis; Leadership and management skills development Jon Griffith; Part three: Skills in practice: UK case study Mandy Young; US case study Kimberly Sugden and Anthony Mendes; China case study Marie So and Carol Chyau; India case study Stan Marcel Thekaekara and Mari Marcel Thekaekara.

HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 296 5
240 x 172mm 224 tbc pages June 2010

Ethnicity, class and aspiration
Understanding London’s new East End
Tim Butler and Chris Hamnett, King’s College, London

“This book provides a valuable and original contribution to the existing literature by containing a wealth of new empirical material on London’s changing social composition, especially in relation to education.”
Paul Watt, Birkbeck, University of London

East London has undergone dramatic changes over the last 30 years, primarily as a result of London’s large-scale de-industrialisation and the rise in its financial sector. Large parts of inner East London remain deprived, but a once overwhelmingly white working-class area is now home to a more complex and mobile class and ethnic mix. This topical book focuses on the aspirations of these different groups and the strategies they have pursued about where to live, driven in part by a concern to ensure a good education for their children. The book will be essential reading for students and academics in sociology, urban studies, geography and multicultural studies.

Contents: Introduction; The changing economy and social structure of London and history of East London; Ethnic minorities and housing and perceptions of decline; Ethnicity, segregation and education: aspirations and attainment; The fallacy of choice: the difficulties in making decisions under conditions of limited choice; Reputation and working the system; Conclusions.
HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 651 2
234 x 156mm 272 tbc pages October 2010

Also available:
London voices, London lives
Tales from a working capital
Peter Hall

PB £24.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 983 5
HB £65.00 US$110.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 984 2
234 x 156mm 512 pages July 2007

Disadvantaged by where you live?
Neighbourhood governance in contemporary urban policy
Edited by Ian Smith, Eileen Lepine and Marilyn Taylor

HB £65.00 US$99.90 ISBN 978 1 86134 895 1
234 x 156mm 256 pages July 2007

Securing an urban renaissance
Crime, community, and British urban policy
Edited by Rowland Atkinson and Gesa Helms

Hardback £60.00 US$110.00 ISBN 9788161348159
234 x 156mm 304 pages July 2007

Renewing neighbourhoods
Work, enterprise and governance
Stephen Syrett and David North, Middlesex University

“A timely analysis of the government’s new emphasis on economic development to regenerate poor neighbourhoods, combining a valuable review and critique of the latest ideas and evidence with constructive proposals for the future.”
Ivan Turok, University of Glasgow

PB £24.99 US$45.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 861 6
HB £65.00 US$110.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 862 3
234 x 156mm 304 pages October 2008

Also available:
Community cohesion in crisis?
New dimensions of diversity and difference
Edited by John Flint and David Robinson

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 024 4
234 x 156mm 288 pages July 2008
Community development and civil society
Making connections in the European context
Paul Henderson, Consultant, Community Development and Ilona Veress, Hungarian Association For Community Development

“The authors bring a wealth of insight and experience to this analytical and practical exploration.”
Alan Barr, University of Strathclyde, Scottish Community Development Centre, Glasgow

To what extent are the ideas and practice of community development across Europe similar? Community development and civil society shows how community development connects powerfully with civil society, a concept that today has global significance.

The authors argue that community development is both a profession and a social movement and is relevant to a wide range of issues, interweaving case studies with discussion of principles and theory. The book’s critical and accessible approach will appeal especially to students and practitioners.

Contents: Foreword Attila Gergely; Introduction; Part one: Key concepts: Civil society; Community development; Part two: Functioning communities: Socialisation; Economic wealth; Social participation; Social control; Mutual support and solidarity; Part three: Reviving democracy: The potential of community development; Communities and democracy; Conclusions.

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 969 9
HB £65.00 US$98.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 970 5
234 x 156mm 208 tbc pages July 2010

The well-connected community
A networking approach to community development
Alison Gilchrist, Community Development Consultant

“A brilliant study.” Stephen Bubb, Association of Chief Executives of Voluntary Organisations

This fully updated second edition includes new ideas on social capital and the policy context for community practice, reflecting the increasing emphasis on community engagement and empowerment.

234 x 156mm 248 pages July 2009

Also available:
Critical community practice
Hugh L Butcher, Sarah Banks, Paul Henderson, and Jim Robertson

PB £18.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 743 5
234 x 156mm 192 pages September 2007

Building sustainable communities
Mike Raco

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 744 2
234 x 156mm 280 pages January 2007

Participatory practice
Community-based action for transformative change
Margaret Ledwith, University of Cumbria and Jane Springett, Liverpool John Moores University

“This book presents a sustained challenge to governments and international organisations. It is a very welcome addition to the impressive canon being developed by the authors.” Gary Craig, International Association for Community Development

Ledwith and Springett’s innovative approach bridges the divide between ideas and practice and allows the development of the knowledge that is needed to bring about transformative social change.

Their ideas are founded on two premises: firstly, that transformative practice begins in the everyday stories that people tell about their lives and that practical theory generated from these narratives is the best way to inform both policy and practice. The second premise is that participatory practice is a tool for examining this knowledge that allows practitioners to examine the way they view the world and to situate their local practice within bigger social issues. The book will be of interest to both academics and community-based practitioners.

PB £19.99 US$32.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 012 1
HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 013 8
240 x 172mm 264 pages November 2009

Also available:
Community development
A critical approach
Margaret Ledwith

234 x 156mm 216 pages November 2005
A BASW/Policy Press title

Searching for community
Representation, power and action on an urban estate
Jeremy Brent

“An absolute must.” Paul Hoggett, University of the West of England

This book examines ways to understand and engage with the concept of ‘community’, presenting a variety of perspectives to challenge the ways in which areas of poverty and dispute are represented.

HB £60.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 323 8
234 x 156mm 312 pages May 2009

The dilemmas of development work
Ethical challenges in regeneration
Paul Hoggett, Marjorie Mayo and Chris Miller

This book explores the ways in which front-line professionals, working with communities, address the dilemmas inherent in the current policy context.

PB £23.99 US$36.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 971 2
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 972 9
234 x 156mm 208 pages November 2008
People with intellectual disabilities

Towards a good life?

Kelley Johnson, University of Bristol, Jan Walmsley, The Health Foundation and Marie Wolfe

“This book challenges current ideas on what constitutes a ‘good enough’ life for people with intellectual disabilities and proposes new ideas on how to make a truly ‘good life’ possible.”

Dorothy Atkinson, The Open University

What does it mean to live a good life? Why has it proved so difficult for people with intellectual disabilities to live one? What happens when we make a good life the centre of our consideration of people with intellectual disabilities? These questions are explored through a re-examination of ideas from philosophy and social theory, and through personal life stories.

This important and timely book provides an analysis and critique of current policies and underpinning ideologies in relation to people with intellectual disabilities and explores ways in which a good life may be made more attainable.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: Boundaries and categories: The nature of a good life; Challenges of the good life; Living on the boundaries; Part two: Re-examining key concepts in the light of current practice: Discourses of care and control; Normalisation and social valuation; The social model of disability; Citizenship and neglect; Part three: Alternative approaches: the centrality of relationships: Developing relationships; Nurturing social capital; Stewardship; Conclusion.

HB £65.00 US$99.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 069 5
234 x 156mm 224 tbc pages June 2010

Education, disability and social policy

Edited by Steve Haines, Save the Children and David Ruebain, Legal Policy, Equality and Human Rights Commission

Disability is an increasingly vital contemporary issue in British social policy especially in education. Education, disability and social policy brings together for the first time unique perspectives from leading thinkers including senior academics, opinion formers, policy makers and school leaders.

The book is a milestone in social policy studies, of enduring interest to students, academics, policy makers, parents and campaigners alike.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: Foundations: education, disability and the law; Cherie Booth QC; Human rights and education: international perspectives Judith Heumann; Children’s voice and experiences: ‘The school that I’d like’ Ann Lewis; Part two: Contexts, challenges and possibilities: how to lead inclusive schools Nigel Utton; The local context: inter-agency collaboration Peter Gray; Transition Alan Dyson; Part three: The challenges for policy makers: Autism and education Amanda Batter; Inclusive curricula, inclusive assessment: the challenge to knowledge and its measurement Olga Miller, Rory Cobb and Paul Simpson; Widening participation in higher education Sheila Riddell; Disability and the family Philippa Russell; New perspectives Anne Borsay; Part four: Conclusions: David Ruebain, Steve Haines and Len Barton.

HB £65.00 US$99.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 337 5
234 x 156mm 256 tbc pages July 2010

Policy for a change

Local labour market analysis and gender equality

Edited by Sue Yeandle, University of Leeds

“This fascinating and scholarly book reports on an amazing achievement. Rich material illuminates the diversity of women’s situations and offers a wealth of insights.” Harriet Bradley, University of Bristol

Using a new and original approach, this illuminating book explores women’s employment at the start of the 21st century, identifying aspects of women’s labour market situation which remain poorly understood and challenging much ‘received wisdom’ about women and work.

HB £65.00 US$110.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 848 7
240 x 172mm 232 pages November 2008

Social welfare and religion in the Middle East

A Lebanese perspective

Rana Jawad, University of Warwick

This book presents a new and comprehensive narrative of social welfare in the Middle East through an examination of the role of religious welfare.

HB £65.00 US$99.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 953 8
240 x 172mm 328 pages July 2009

Understanding equal opportunities and diversity

The social differentiations and intersections of inequality

Barbara Bagilhole, Loughborough University

“This timely and useful text which guides the reader through the conceptual, institutional and legal maze that lies behind ‘equal opportunities’ and ‘diversity’.”

Teresa Rees, Cardiff University

This book challenges the official discourse that shapes the debates on Equal Opportunities and Diversity (EO&D) at national, regional and European level and will be a key text for students and researchers of EO&D in many fields.

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 848 7
HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 849 4
240 x 172mm 272 pages April 2009

Understanding welfare: Social issues, policy and Practice series

Women in and out of paid work

Changes across generations in Italy and Britain

Cristina Solera, University of Turin

“This is an illuminating and exemplary piece of comparative research.” Richard Breen, Yale University

The important study investigates changes in women’s transitions in and out of paid work, comparing Italy and Britain.

HB £65.00 US$99.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 930 9
240 x 172mm 240 pages July 2009
Child slavery now
A contemporary reader
Edited by Gary Craig, University of Hull
“This book is an intellectual toolbox for liberation. If you are a serious abolitionist you need this book.”
Kevin Bales, President and Co-Founder, Free the Slaves
Most slave trades were abolished during the 19th century yet there remain millions of people in slavery today, among them approximately 10 million children. The book allows the often silent voices of Muslim women to be heard.”

Family policy paradoxes
Gender equality and labour market regulation in Sweden, 1930-2010
Åsa Lundqvist, University of Lund
“In Family policy paradoxes, Åsa Lundqvist offers a rich, multifaceted analysis of Sweden’s grand family policy experiment, highlighting visions, drivers and actors of social democratic family policies from the 1930s into the 2000s.”

Our stories, our lives
Inspiring Muslim women’s voices
Edited by Wahida Shaffi
“This insightful, touching, and at times surprising book allows the often silent voices of Muslim women to be heard.”

Also available:
Gender equality and welfare politics in Scandinavia
The limits of political ambition
Edited by Kari Melby, Christina Carlsson Wetterberg and Anna-Birte Ravn
The migration debate
Sarah Spencer, University of Oxford

A well-balanced, critical analysis of UK migration policies, in a European context, from entry controls through to integration and citizenship. This accessible overview offers a considered assessment of policy options to provide a better-informed public debate around this controversial issue.

For full details see page 4.

198 x 129mm 240 tbc pages September 2010

Migration and welfare in the ‘new’ Europe
Social protection and the challenges of integration

Edited by Emma Carmel, University of Bath, Alfio Cerami, Centre for European Studies, Paris and Theodoros Papadopoulos, University of Bath

This book provides innovative insights into one of the most controversial and important subjects of the 21st century: migration and social integration. Empirically, the volume offers comprehensive grounding in the relationships between migration, migration policies and social protection/inclusion in the enlarged European Union and its member states. Theoretically, the collection moves the debate onto new terrain. With contributions from leading international experts, the book will be useful to academics and professionals as well as undergraduate and postgraduate students.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: Theoretical background; Part two: Migration and social protection policies in the EU: Country studies; Part three: Social and migration policy nexus: Critical issues.

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 644 4
240 x 172mm 304 tbc pages October 2010

The dispersal and social exclusion of asylum seekers
Between liminality and belonging

Patricia Hynes, NSPCC Fresh Start

“This book provides a vivid account of the experience of asylum seekers in the dispersal system. In documenting its exclusionary impact, it provides a powerful critique of current policies which will be of interest to all those concerned with migration and human rights.” Rosemary Sales, Middlesex University

This book establishes asylum seekers as a socially excluded group, investigating the policy of dispersing asylum seekers across the UK and providing an overview of historic and contemporary dispersal systems. It is the first book to seek to understand how asylum seekers experience the dispersal system and the impact this has on their lives. The author argues that deterrent asylum policies increase the sense of liminality experienced by individuals, challenges assumptions that asylum seekers should be socially excluded until receipt of refugee status and illustrates how they create their own sense of ‘belonging’ in the absence of official recognition. Academics, students, policy makers and practitioners would all benefit from reading this book.

Contents: Introduction; Social exclusion and forced migration; Prehistory, structure and implementation of dispersal; The geography of dispersal and deprivation; The process and experience of dispersal; Access to services; Social networks and belonging; Liminality, mistrust and the trajectory of asylum policy; Conclusions.

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 326 9
240 x 172mm 256 tbc pages January 2011

Asylum, migration and community
Maggie O’Neill, Loughborough University

“Like the asylum seekers and migrants she studies, Maggie O’Neill brings a rich cargo of ideas and images to the terrain she enters, from psychoanalysis and Marxism to creative and innovative participatory methods. Her book should engage scholars across a wide range of disciplines.” Janice Haaken, Portland State University

Issues of asylum, migration, humanitarian protection and integration/belonging are of growing interest beyond the disciplinary areas of refugee studies, migration and social policy. Rooted in more than two decades of scholarship, this book uses critical social theory and participatory, biographical and arts-based methods with asylum seekers, refugees and emerging communities to explore the dynamics of the asylum-migration-community nexus. It argues that interdisciplinary analysis is required to deal with the complexity of the issues involved and offers understanding as praxis (purposeful knowledge), drawing upon innovative participatory, arts-based, performative and policy-relevant research.

Contents: Part one: Globalisation and the asylum-migration-community nexus: Introduction; the asylum-migration-community nexus; Globalisation, humiliation, transnational communities and social justice; Human rights and the law; Part two: Contemporary theoretical and methodological approaches: Researching the asylum-migration-community nexus; Re-presenting refugees and asylum seekers in the British media; Diasporic communities and the impact of dispersal: participatory action research and participatory arts; Unaccompanied children and young people; Women refugees: a safe haven?; Part three: Performative praxis: Social policy and the asylum-migration-community nexus; Fortress Europe? Borders, containment and emerging communities; Refused asylum seekers, destitution, poverty and the role of social networks; The Human Dignity and Humiliation Studies (HDHS) global network and the search for social justice; Conclusion: asylum, migration and community – what next?

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 223 1
234 x 156mm 208 tbc pages July 2010

ASYLUM & MIGRATION
‘Sleepwalking to segregation’? Challenging myths about race and migration
Nissa Finney and Ludi Simpson, University of Manchester

“Nissa Finney and Ludi Simpson have produced an authoritative guide to evidence on immigration and segregation, in plain language. This book will help journalists and politicians to treat these issues with the seriousness they deserve, and hesitate before making alarmist claims that have no basis in fact.” Jon Cruddas, MP

In the context of renewed debates about diversity and cohesion, this book interrogates contemporary claims about race and migration. It demonstrates that many of the claims are myths, presenting evidence in support of and in opposition to them in an accessible yet academically rigorous manner.

The book combines an easy-to-read overview of the subject with innovative new research. It tackles head on questions about levels of immigration, the contribution of immigrants, minority self-segregation, ghettoisation and the future diversity of the population. The authors argue that the myths of race and migration are the real threat to an integrated society and recommend that focus should return to problems of inequality and prejudice.

Contents: Introduction; Making sense of race statistics; Challenging the myth that “Britain takes too many immigrants”; Challenging the myth that “so many minorities can’t be integrated”; Challenging the myth that “minorities don’t want to integrate”; Challenging the myth that “Britain is becoming a country of ghettos”; Challenging the myth of “minority white cities”; Conclusion; Myths and counterarguments: a quick reference summary.

HB £55.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 008 4
234 x 156mm 224 pages January 2009

Understanding immigration and refugee policy
Contradictions and continuities
Rosemary Sales, Middlesex University

The book provides an essential background to understanding debates surrounding immigration and refugee policy. It examines different theoretical approaches to immigration and explores links between immigration policy, welfare and social exclusion, as well as documenting migrants’ experiences in negotiating and challenging these policies.

PB £19.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 451 9
HB £60.00 US$90.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 452 6
240 x 172mm 296 pages June 2007
Understanding Welfare: Social Issues, Policy and Practice series
Published in association with the Social Policy Association

The role of higher education in providing opportunities for South Asian women
Paul Bagguley and Yasmin Hussain

PB £12.95 US$22.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 973 6
297 x 210mm 72 pages April 2007
Published in association with the Joseph Rowntree Foundation

Doing research with refugees
Issues and guidelines
Edited by Bogusia Temple and Rhetta Moran, University of Salford

“...a lively, accessible book with a humane and open approach to the subject. ...this is a useful and thorough guide for anyone planning to undertake research in this area. It is a thought provoking and sometimes moving account of a diverse group of people who have used research in an attempt to give refugees a greater voice in society.”

Diversity in Health and Social Care

This book is the first specifically to explore methodological issues relating to the involvement of refugees in both service evaluation and development and research more generally. It builds on a two-year seminar series funded by the ESRC and attended by members of a range of statutory and voluntary organisations, as well as academics and refugees themselves. The participants jointly drew up a set of good practice guidelines that are re-produced in the book for the first time.

HB £60.00 US$90.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 598 1
234 x 156mm 232 pages January 2006

Also available:

Refugee community organisations and dispersal Networks, resources and social capital
David Griffiths, Nando Sigona and Roger Zetter

HB £60.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 634 6
234 x 156mm 256 pages October 2005

Spreading the ‘burden’?
A review of policies to disperse asylum seekers and refugees
Vaughan Robinson, Roger Andersson and Sako Musterd

PB £23.99 ISBN 978 1 86134 417 5
234 x 156mm 224 pages July 2003

Ethnic minorities in the labour market
Dynamics and diversity
Ken Clark and Stephen Drinkwater

PB £12.95 US$25.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 959 0
297 x 210mm 76 pages April 2007
Published in association with the Joseph Rowntree Foundation

Immigration under New Labour
Will Somerville

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 968 2
234 x 156mm 240 pages September 2007
Legalising drugs
Debates and dilemmas
Philip Bean, University of Loughborough

“The war on drugs” is pursued relentlessly, and yet the drug legalisation debate refuses to go away. In his new book, Philip Bean addresses the complexities of this debate, and although his default position is prohibitionist, he provides a balanced account of this moral and political minefield.

Geoffrey Pearson, Goldsmiths, University of London

Government policy has steadfastly been against drug legalisation, but increasingly critics have argued that this is unsustainable. This book is a timely examination of the issues this raises.

Numerous suggestions have been offered. Some seek to complete legalisation, others a more modified form, yet still others want an increasing commitment to harm reduction policies.

Philip Bean examines the implications of these proposals for individuals, especially juveniles, and for society, when set against crime reduction claims. He concludes with the necessary questions a rational drug policy must answer.

The book will be essential reading for students and academics in criminology, sociology and social policy, as well as policy makers, practitioners and the general public.

Contents: Introduction; Prohibition, economic liberalism and moral legalism; Harm reduction, medicalisation and decriminalisation; Legalisation and crime; The special problem of juveniles; The community, the personal and the commercial; Some concluding thoughts.

198 x 129 mm 168 pages January 2010

Shoot to kill
Exploring police use of firearms
Maurice Punch, London School of Economics and Political Science

“This book provides a lively and accessible overview of a neglected and widely misunderstood subject. It is essential reading for students, academics, policy makers, politicians and all those concerned about police use of deadly force.”

Ben Bowling, King’s College, London

“This excellent book should be a ‘must read’ for all those involved with, or interested in, the profound issues of life and death that lie at heart of Maurice Punch’s analysis.” P.A.J. Waddington, University of Wolverhampton

The shooting of Jean-Charles de Menezes at Stockwell tube station in 2005 raised acute issues about operational practice, legitimacy, accountability and policy making regarding police use of fatal force. It dramatically exposed a policy, amounting to ‘shoot to kill’, which came not from Parliament but from the non-statutory ACPO (Association of Chief Police Officers). This vital and timely book unravels these complex and often misunderstood matters with a fresh look at firearms practice and policy in a traditionally ‘unarmed’ police service. It is essential reading for all those interested in the state’s role in defining coercion and in policing a democracy.

Contents: Shoot to kill: who decides when cops can kill?; Firearms, scenarios and mistakes; Police and firearms; The State and violence: misuse of force; Rights, accountability and command; Conclusion: From Bobby to Robocop?

HB £60.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 473 0
198 x 129 mm 176 tbc pages July 2010

Multi-agency working in criminal justice
Control and care in contemporary correctional practice
Edited by Aaron Pycroft and Dennis Gough, University of Portsmouth

“There is a need for more discussion of the constructive work that practitioners continue to do to support the desistance of ex-offenders. This collection of chapters on multi-agency work helps to fill that gap.” Ros Burnett, University of Oxford

This textbook brings together for the first time theory, policy and skills relevant to working in a multi-agency setting within the criminal justice system. The book outlines the legislative and policy framework in the criminal justice system, and evaluates professional and organisational conflicts within multi-agency contexts as well as highlighting key offender groups, and issues associated with desistance from crime. It is essential reading for all students and practitioners involved in or studying correctional work, through the probation or prison services, or other agencies.

Contents: Introduction; Consensus, complexity and emergence: The mixed economy of service provision Aaron Pycroft; The corrections context Dennis Gough; Reflective and practice skills for effective partnership working John Howard; Clients or offenders? The case for clarity of purpose in multi-agency working Carrie Skinner; Unlocking prisoners: does multi-agency working hold the key to the successful resettlement of released prisoners? Gerry Parkinson; The diversity agenda in criminal justice Mark Mitchell; Multi-agency work with black and minority ethnic offenders Sarah Hilder; From pillar to post: multi-agency working with women offenders Rachel Goldhill; Working together to tackle domestic violence Jacki Tapley; Working together to manage the risk of serious harm Suzie Cliff; Singing from the same hymn sheet: but can we hear all the voices? Mike Nash; Sharing or shifting responsibility? The multi-agency approach to safeguarding children Aileen Watson; Offenders with mental health problems in the criminal justice system: the multi-agency challenge Jane Winstone and Francis Pakes; The partnership approach to drug misuse Bernie Heath; Dual diagnosis Anne Rees; Youth offending teams: a multi-agency success or system failure? Nicholas Pamment; Conclusion: does multi-agency working equate with effective practice.

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 453 2
HB £60.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 454 9
240 x 172 mm 224 tbc pages May 2010
Exploring modern probation
Social theory and organisational complexity
Philip Whitehead, University of Teeside

“This book promises to be both the definitive account of [the probation service’s] recent past and the critically challenging one that is needed.”
Maurice Vanstone, Swansea University

Since 1997 the probation service, an integral component of criminal justice for over 100 years, has been subject to a politically driven process of modernisation and cultural transformation. This innovative textbook explores this probation modernisation by using social theories associated with Durkheim, Weber, Marx and Foucault. The book combines this theoretical analysis with empirical research from interviews, which highlights challenges to, as well as support of, the politics of modernisation. This research is unique in providing insights into what representatives of other organisations think about probation – from the outside looking in.

This up-to-date text will be essential reading for undergraduate and postgraduate students of probation, criminology, criminal and social justice and allied disciplines.

Contents: Introduction; Modernising probation and criminal justice since 1997; Durkheim, Weber, Marx, and Foucault: social theory with the big guys; Religious, humanitarian and personalist impulses: footprints left by the good guys; Social theory and organisational complexity: putting theories and impulses to work; Researching modernisation and cultural change in probation: views of solicitors, clerks, magistrates, barristers and judges; Modernising monstrosities and cultural catastrophes: probation trapped in a new order of things.

PB £23.99 US$39.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 348 1
HB £65.00 US$98.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 349 8
240 x 172mm 224 tbc pages June 2010

Assessment in youth justice

Kerry Baker, University of Oxford, Gill Kelly and Bernadette Wilkinson, KWP Consultancy

“This is an important and timely book. With its emphasis upon knowledge, skills and decision making it is a refreshing antidote to the promulgation of risk assessment tools. Skills are rightly prioritised over tool use, and this will be a ‘must read’ for youth justice practitioners and managers.”
Hazel Kemshall, De Montfort University

This book provides a comprehensive introduction to the theory and practice of assessment and intervention planning with young people who offend. It will help equip practitioners with the knowledge and professional skills central to these critically important tasks. The context for practice is changing rapidly and the authors take into account current policy developments along with a wide range of literature on assessment practice in criminal justice and social care. The book encourages readers to think critically and to take practical steps to enhance their own practice. It will be important reading for anyone working with young people who offend.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: Theory and models of assessment and intervention planning: Assessment: why and how; Knowledge base; Judgements and decision making; Part two: Assessment and interventions processes and tools: First-tier assessment; Second-tier assessment; Planning interventions; Part three: Communication and developing assessment: Communicating and working with other agencies; Report writing; Developing assessment practice; Conclusion.

PB £19.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 637 6
240 x 172mm 224 tbc pages October 2010

‘Hate crime’ and the city

Paul Iganski, Lancaster University

“...a valuable insight for anyone wishing to focus on prevention work.... Iganski’s book advances the prevention agenda.” Runnymede Trust Bulletin

This book widens our understanding of hate crime by demonstrating that many offenders are ordinary people who offend in the context of their everyday lives.

HB £65.00 US$110.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 940 8
234 x 156mm 168 pages July 2008

The use and impact of dispersal orders

Sticking plasters and wake-up calls

Adam Crawford and Stuart Lister

PB £14.95 US$27.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 078 7
297 x 210mm 96 pages October 2007
Published in association with the Joseph Rowntree Foundation
Taking the crime out of sex work
New Zealand sex workers’ fight for decriminalisation

Edited by Gillian Abel, University of Otago, Lisa Fitzgerald, University of Queensland, Catherine Healy, New Zealand Prostitutes’ Collective with Aline Taylor

“This superb collection speaks to the international community as it truly is a one-stop guide to the politics and policies of prostitution in New Zealand which demonstrates how to regulate sex work without moral judgement.”
Teela Sanders, University of Leeds

New Zealand was the first country in the world to decriminalise all sectors of sex work. This book provides an in-depth look at New Zealand’s experience of decriminalisation. It provides first-hand views and experience on this policy from those involved in the sex industry, as well as people involved in developing, implementing, researching and reviewing the policies. Presenting an example of radical legal reform in an area of current policy debate it will be of interest to academics, researchers and postgraduates as well as policy makers and activists.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: Lead up to the passing of the Prostitution Reform Act (2003): Of whalers, diggers and ‘soiled doves’: a history of the sex industry in New Zealand Jan Jordan; History of the New Zealand Prostitutes’ Collective Catherine Healy, Calum Bennachie and Anna Reed; Lobbying for decriminalisation Tim Barnett, Catherine Healy, Anna Reed and Calum Bennachie; The Prostitution Reform Act Gillian Abel, Catherine Healy, Calum Bennachie and Anna Reed; Several sides to this story: feminist views of prostitution reform Alison Laurie; Part two: Implementation and impact of the Prostitution Reform Act (2003): The first five years: review of the PRA Paul Fitzharris with Aline Taylor; Brothel operators’ and support agencies’ experiences of decriminalisation Elaine Moorsman; The (continuing) regulation of prostitution by local authorities Dean Knight; CSoM study methodology and methods Gillian Abel, Lisa Fitzgerald and Cheryl Brunton; Becoming inspectors of brothels: public health authorities’ experience of implementing the PRA Cheryl Brunton; The media and the PRA Lisa Fitzgerald and Gillian Abel; Risk and risk management in sex work post PRA: a public health perspective Gillian Abel and Lisa Fitzgerald; Decriminalisation and stigma Gillian Abel and Lisa Fitzgerald; Conclusion.

HB £70.00 US$110.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 334 4 240 x 172mm 272 tbc pages May 2010

Offenders in focus
Risk, responsibility and diversity
Kathryn Farrow, Gill Kelly and Bernadette Wilkinson

PB £19.99 US$35.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 786 2
HB £60.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 787 9
234 x 156mm 280 pages July 2007

Securing respect
Behavioural expectations and anti-social behaviour in the UK

Edited by Andrew Millie, University of Glasgow

“This timely and much-needed set of essays should help inform the ongoing public debate on anti-social behaviour, steering it in a realistic social scientific direction, beyond the polarised sloganeering of both political opponents and proponents.”
Gordon Hughes, Cardiff University

Securing respect contains essays from leading academics in the field that consider the origins, current interpretations and possible future for the Respect Agenda. It explores various policy and theoretical discourses relating to ‘respect’, behavioural expectations and anti-social behaviour.

PB £25.99 US$41.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 093 0
HB £65.00 US$99.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 094 7
234 x 156mm 296 pages April 2009

Street capital
Black cannabis dealers in a white welfare state
Sveinung Sandberg, University of Bergen and Willy Pedersen, University of Oslo

“This is a book in the great tradition of studies of street-corner societies. But the arena is exceptional; a riverside in the capital of a Scandinavian welfare state. It is an analysis sharpened by new tools that makes for new insights.”
Nils Christie, University of Oslo

This book presents a new theoretical framework for understanding street cultures based on fieldwork and interviews with dealers aged between 15 and 30, exploring themes including marginalisation, discrimination, cannabis dealing and drug use, violence, masculinity, hip-hop culture, experiences with the welfare system, and issues of immigration and racism.

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 120 3 240 x 172mm 200 pages October 2009

Regulating sex for sale
Prostitution policy reform in the UK

Edited by Jo Phoenix, Durham University

“This excellent collection constitutes a timely and important intervention that captures the complex and contested nature of prostitution. It ought to be compulsory reading for all politicians, policy makers and academics claiming to have a say on this issue.”
Sandra Walklate, University of Liverpool

Regulating sex for sale provides a detailed analysis and critical reflection on the processes, assumptions and contradictions shaping the UK’s emerging prostitution policy. It examines the total package of reforms and proposals that have been introduced in this area since May 2000.

HB £65.00 US$99.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 105 0
234 x 156mm 208 pages September 2009
Crime and justice are issues of central political and public concern in contemporary Britain. This exciting series presents top-quality research findings in the field. It contributes significantly to policy and practice debates and aims to improve the knowledge base considerably.

Implementing restorative justice in children's residential care

Carol Hayden and Dennis Gough, University of Portsmouth

“This book is a timely and intelligent contribution to this complex policy and practice problem.”
---

Will McMahon, Kings College London

Restorative justice (RJ) and restorative approaches (RAs) are popular and appealing as a way of responding to a wide range of conflict, problem and offending behaviour. The growth in use of RJ and RAs has been described as a ‘global social movement’ that sets out to repair harm, reduce conflict and harmonise civil society. This book takes a close look at the implementation of an RJ approach in the challenging environment of children’s residential care homes. It will appeal to people interested in the use of RJ – particularly its use with children and young people – as well as people interested in problem and offending behaviour and children in care.

245 x 170mm 128 tbc pages June 2010

Zero tolerance policing

Maurice Punch, London School of Economics and Political Science

“... an excellent overview of the zero tolerance brand, searing criticisms of this practice and enlightening observations on its adaptation in other jurisdictions. This all makes for an impressive book.”
---

Prison Service Journal

“... an excellent introduction to the complex issues of risk, rights and young people and ... an important contribution to understanding wider issues of risk in a contemporary context.”
---

British Journal of Social Work

This report provides a detailed exploration of MAPPA policy and practice in order to prompt further debate about the implications of the risk paradigm for young people and youth justice practitioners.

245 x 170mm 152 pages February 2009

Multi-Agency Public Protection Arrangements and Youth Justice

Edited by Kerry Baker and Alex Sutherland, University of Oxford

“... an excellent introduction to the complex issues of risk, rights and young people and ... an important contribution to understanding wider issues of risk in a contemporary context.”
---

British Journal of Social Work

This report provides a detailed exploration of MAPPA policy and practice in order to prompt further debate about the implications of the risk paradigm for young people and youth justice practitioners.

PB £14.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 261 3

245 x 170mm 112 pages November 2008

Tackling prison overcrowding

Edited by Mike Hough, Rob Allen and Enver Solomon, King’s College London

Lord Patrick Carter’s 2007 ‘Review of Prisons’ proposed the construction of vast ‘Titan’ prisons and the establishment of a Sentencing Commission along with further use of the private sector. Tackling prison overcrowding is a response to these controversial proposals.

PB £14.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 263 7

245 x 170mm 136 pages November 2008

Children and young people in custody

Managing the risk

Edited by Maggie Blyth, Chris Wright and Robert Newman

Over the last decade, the reformed youth justice system has seen increases in the numbers of children and young people in custody, a sharp rise in indeterminate sentences and the continuing deaths of young prisoners. This report brings together contributions from leading experts to examine critically current policy and practice.

PB £14.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 261 3

245 x 170mm 112 pages November 2008

Prevention and youth crime

Is early intervention working?

Edited by Maggie Blyth and Enver Solomon

The 2008 Youth Crime Action Plan emphasises prevention and early intervention in different aspects of work with young people who are considered to be ‘at risk’ of offending. Much of this approach includes targeted work with families and work to reduce the numbers of young people entering the youth justice system. This report takes a critical look at early intervention policies.

PB £14.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 263 7

245 x 170mm 136 pages November 2008

Young people and ‘risk’

Edited by Maggie Blyth, Enver Solomon and Kerry Baker

PB £14.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 000 8

245 x 170mm 128 pages September 2007

Assessing the use and impact of Anti-Social Behaviour Orders

Roger Matthews, Helen Easton, Daniel Briggs and Ken Pease

245 x 170mm 80 pages November 2007
The public health system in England

David J. Hunter, Linda Marks and Katherine E. Smith, Durham University

“Health inequalities remain the most stubborn of adversaries for public health practitioners, policy makers and activists. But new challenges are emerging: climate change and pandemic flu being perhaps the most compelling. This text addresses the two themes, the old and the new using the system itself as the unit of analysis.” Mike Kelly, Director of the Centre for Public Health Excellence, NICE

Health systems everywhere are experiencing rapid change in response to new threats to health, but health inequalities continue to widen. Such developments have profound implications for the future direction of public health policy and practice.

The public health system in England offers a wide-ranging, provocative and accessible assessment of challenges confronting a public health system, exploring how its parameters have shifted and what the origins of dilemmas in public health practice are. The book will have wide appeal to public health professionals and students of health policy.

PB £21.99 US$37.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 462 4
HB £65.00 US$109.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 463 1
234 x 156mm 208 tbc pages March 2010

Credit crunch health care

How economics can save our publicly funded health services

Cam Donaldson, Newcastle University

“How economics can save our publicly funded health services. World-leading health economist Cam Donaldson defends NHS-type systems on the same basis as their detractors: economic efficiency. However, protecting government funding of health care is not enough. Donaldson goes on to show how we can get more out of our systems by addressing issues of value for money. These issues have global appeal and this accessible book will therefore be attractive to the public, health professionals and health policy specialists.

Contents: Introduction; Market failure in health care; Charging the public: exception or anomaly?; Reform, privatisation and those damn doctors; The fiscal future of health care: an economist’s rant; Economic evaluation; What’s your health worth?; Where now for valuing health?

HB £60.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 753 3
198x129mm 208 tbc pages November 2010

Leadership for healthcare

Jean Hartley and John Benington, University of Warwick

“Never before has leadership been such an important lever for reform in health and healthcare. This important work provides a clear framework to understand healthcare leadership.”

Dame Yve Buckland, Chair, NHS Institute for Innovation and Improvement

It is vital for healthcare leaders to have a clear sense of which leadership ideas and practices are rooted in sound theory and convincing evidence, which are more speculative. This book provides a coherent set of six lenses through which to scrutinise the leadership literature relevant to healthcare. It argues that leadership has to be understood as a complex set of practices by many people within specific organisational and inter-organisational contexts and cultures.

Contents: Introducing leadership; Leadership concepts; Characteristics of leadership; The contexts of leadership; The challenges of leadership; The capabilities of leadership; Consequences of leadership; Leadership development; Conclusions.

PB £19.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 486 0
HB £60.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 487 7
234 x 156mm 176 tbc pages March 2010

Social inequality and public health

Edited by Salvatore J. Babones, University of Sydney

“This collection provides an efficient and intriguing introduction into what we now think most makes us healthy or ill.” Daniel Dorling, University of Sheffield

This book brings together the latest research findings surveying four pathways to understanding the social determinants of health.

HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 321 4
240 x 172mm 256 pages April 2009
Using theory to explore health, medicine and society

Peter Kennedy and Carole Kennedy, Glasgow Caledonian University

“This is a powerful study of one of the most significant developments in contemporary social life.” Frank Furedi, University of Kent

The area of health, medicine and illness is well served with books focusing on health policy and social inequalities, using one or two theories. This book draws on a broad range of theoretical perspectives to provide contrasting insights into the expanding jurisdiction of medicine over popular issues, including binge drinking, obesity, the prominence of therapy and the search for happiness. The book is essential for health professionals who may lack knowledge of how social theory can help to understand the relationship between health, medicine and society. It is indispensable for students and academics to show how theory can be applied to health and medicine.

Contents: Introduction; Medicine and society; The challenge posed by complimentary and alternative medicines to orthodox medicine; Medicine in a risk society; Social divisions in mental health; The happiness and self-help industry; The sociology of obesity; Moral panic, health and social order: the case of binge drinking.

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 401 3
HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 402 0
240 x 172mm 256 tbc pages June 2010

Healthcare in the UK
Understanding continuity and change

Ian Greener, Durham University

“Greener’s ‘analytical history’ of the NHS offers a stimulating treatment of major themes and events over its first 60 years.” Stephen Harrison, University of Manchester

This book contends that attempts to reform the NHS can only be understood by reference both to the wider social and political contexts, and to the organisational and ideational legacies within the NHS. It aims to take students beyond a basic understanding of the historical development of health policy in the UK, to one that demonstrates an appreciation of the interactions between health policy, organisation and society.

PB £24.99 US$45.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 608 7
HB £65.00 US$95.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 609 4
234 x 156mm 304 pages November 2008

Also available:

Identity in Britain
A cradle-to-grave atlas

Bethan Thomas and Daniel Dorling

“An incredibly rich source, Identity in Britain includes over two-hundred full colour maps based upon the data collected in the 2001 Census.”

urban-geography.org.uk

PB £35.00 US$60.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 820 3
HB £70.00 US$120.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 821 0
240 x 303mm 312 pages September 2007

The Grim Reaper’s road map
An atlas of mortality in Britain

Mary Shaw, University of Bristol, Bethan Thomas, University of Sheffield, George Davey Smith, University of Bristol and Daniel Dorling, University of Sheffield

“Whatever their background, readers will find The Grim Reaper’s road map a gentle and fascinating introduction to the topic.” LariaNews

PB £35.00 US$70.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 823 4
HB £80.00 US$120.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 824 1
240 x 303mm 272 pages October 2008

Health and Society series
Health & Society series
Series editors: Mary Shaw and George Davey Smith, University of Bristol

This important series aims to broaden and deepen understanding of social medicine – the study of health in its broadest sense. This approach recognises the full range of determinants of health – income and poverty, education, behavioural, cultural and economic factors – as well as healthcare and genetic influences. It covers epidemiology, the health needs and experiences of society, the provision and organisation of health services and the prevention of disease. The series editors are the leading experts in the field.

An introduction to genetic epidemiology
Edited by Lyle J. Palmer, University of Western Australia, Paul R. Burton, University of Leicester and George Davey Smith, University of Bristol

“This is a sobering must-read for anyone who wishes to know how genetic epidemiology may change how we understand, treat or prevent human disease.”
Robert Elston, Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine

Genetic epidemiology is a very rapidly developing field that has acquired a central role in modern biomedical science but until now there has been no introductory text.

This book begins with a primer in human molecular genetics and then examines standard methods in population genetics and genetic epidemiology required for an adequate grounding in the field. Among much else, the book contains discussion of the public health aspects of the new genetics, and of epidemiological methods for studying genes and environmental factors in complex diseases.

Written by leading international experts and supplemented by a glossary and in-chapter guides to further reading, this essential textbook will be widely welcomed by teachers and students on many courses internationally.

PB £19.99 US$35.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 899 9
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 900 2
234 x 156mm 272 pages September 2010

The political economy of health care
A clinical perspective
Julian Tudor Hart, Swansea Medical School, University of Wales

“To miss this book would be to miss the acquaintance of a remarkable man. Insight and commitment fill every page.... Tudor Hart reasons with passion, but reason he most certainly does.”
The Lancet (review of first edition)

Drawing on clinical experience dating from the birth of the NHS in 1948, Julian Tudor Hart, a politically active GP in a Welsh coal mining community, charts the progress of the NHS from its 19th-century origins in workers’ mutual aid societies, to its current forced return to the market. His starting point is a detailed analysis of how clinical decisions are made. He explores the changing social relationships in the NHS as a gift economy, how these may be affected by reducing care to commodity status, and the new directions they might take if the NHS resumed progress independently from the market.

This new edition of this bestselling book has been entirely rewritten with two new chapters, and includes new material on resistance to that worldwide process. The essential principle in the book is that patients need to develop as active citizens and co-producers of health gain in a humanising society and the author’s aim is to promote it wherever people recognise that pursuit of profit may be a brake on rational progress.

PB £17.99 US$28.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 782 3
HB £60.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 783 0
234 x 156mm 336 pages September 2010

Challenging health inequalities
From Acheson to Choosing Health
Edited by Elizabeth Dowler and Nick J. Spencer

PB £24.99 US$45.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 889 9
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 902 2
234 x 156mm 272 pages September 2007

The handbook of inequality and socioeconomic position
Concepts and measures
Mary Shaw, Bruna Galobardes, Debbie A. Lawlor, John Lynch, Ben Wheeler and George Davey Smith

PB £19.99 US$35.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 766 4
HB £55.00 US$90.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 767 1
240 x 172mm 248 pages June 2007

Community health and wellbeing
Action research on health inequalities
Edited by Steve Cropper, Alison Porter, Gareth Williams, Sandra Carlisle, Robert Moore, Martin O’Neill, Chris Roberts and Helen Snooks

PB £19.99 US$36.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 818 0
234 x 156mm 256 pages October 2007
Supporting people: Towards a person-centred approach
Peter Beresford, Brunel University, Catherine Bewley, VIA (Values Into Action), Fran Branfield, Shaping Our Lives, Suzy Croft, St John’s Hospice, London, Jennie Fleming, De Montfort University, Michael Glynn, Solihull Care Trust and Karen Postle, Universities of Portsmouth and Southampton

It is widely agreed that there is a need to transform care and support services. Supporting people explores for the first time with service users, practitioners, carers and managers what person-centred support means to them, what barriers stand in the way and how these can be overcome. It offers both theoretical insights and practical guidance and highlights the importance of a participatory approach. Based on the largest independent UK study of person-centred support and written by an experienced team that includes service users, practitioners and researchers, it demonstrates how change can be made now, and what strategic changes are needed for person-centred support to have a sustainable future.

Contents: Setting the scene for social care; Person-centred support; The funding of social care; The social care workforce; Social care and carers; Institutionalisation; Organisational issues; Social care practice; Capacity building for support; Access to the mainstream; Participation; Change for person-centred support.

PB £19.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 762 5
234 x 156mm 336 tbc pages September 2010
Published in association with the Joseph Rowntree Foundation

Managing transitions
Support for individuals at key points of change
Edited by Alison Petch, Research in Practice for Adults (RIPFA)

“This timely publication brings together a significant evidence base on transitions. I strongly recommend it.” Jenny Owen, Adults, Health and Community Wellbeing, Essex County Council

Drawing on the best available research evidence, Managing transitions highlights issues common to all experiencing transition as well as the dilemmas specific to particular situations. It addresses significant transitions relevant to policy and practice, covering key transition points in social care from childhood to old age.

PB £17.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 179 1
HB £60.00 US$90.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 188 3
234 x 156mm 176 pages October 2009

Direct payments and personal budgets
Putting personalisation into practice
Jon Glasby and Rosemary Littlechild, University of Birmingham

“This book is important to all who need to understand individuals’ rights to independence”. Community Care

Direct payments and personal budgets are two of the most exciting and important developments in adult social care since the Second World War. From very small-scale origins, both have grown rapidly and are now set to transform the whole of adult social care. In future, the government has pledged that everyone will receive a personal budget, and managers, practitioners and students alike will need to be fully conversant with the implications of this.

Against this background, this is the first UK introductory textbook on direct payments and personal budgets, summarising the current evidence and implications for policy and practice. Designed for front-line practitioners and for student social workers, the book places these policies in context, explores their origins and impacts, and sets out the challenges and opportunities for practice. Written by leading national experts in the personalisation agenda, the book is essential reading for everyone involved in social care.

This is a revised and updated second edition of the groundbreaking Social work and direct payments (The Policy Press, 2002).

Contents: Introduction; History: why direct payments and personal budgets are different from what went before; Direct payments: where they came from and how they developed; Personal budgets: where they came from and how they developed; Direct payments: where they came from and what they achieved; Personal budgets: where they came from and why they matter; The advantages of direct payments and personal budgets; Possible barriers; Conclusions: implications for community care.

HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 318 4
240 x 172mm 232 pages May 2009

Also available:

Negotiating death in contemporary health and social care
Margaret Holloway

PB £19.99 US$35.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 722 0
HB £60.00 US$79.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 015 2
240 x 172mm 224 pages October 2007

Private and confidential?
Handling personal information in the social and health services
Edited by Chris Clark and Janice McGhee

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 906 4
234 x 156mm 256 pages July 2008
This exciting series of accessible ‘how to’ books provides an essential introduction to partnership working. The books offer practical support to those working in partnership and provide helpful frameworks to make sense of the complexity that partnership working entails. Each book explores hot topics and emerging issues and provides practical, evidence-based recommendations invaluable for policy and practice.

Partnership working in health and social care

Jon Glasby and Helen Dickinson, University of Birmingham

“This book helps piece together the jigsaw of partnerships. Clearly written with a light touch, it provides a timely update on partnership working for practitioners and students.”

Jill Manthorpe, King’s College London

This book provides a ‘warts and all’ introduction to partnership working, summarising current policy and research, setting out useful frameworks and approaches, and helping policy makers and practitioners to work more effectively together.

198 x 129mm 128 pages May 2008

Managing and leading in inter-agency settings

Edward Peck and Helen Dickinson, University of Birmingham

“As a student and teacher myself of organisational management, leadership, networks and integrated care this book is going to be placed conveniently close as a handy source of reference – perhaps it may even slip into my pocket.”

International Journal of Integrated Care

This book provides a robust introduction to the leadership and management of partnerships. It summarises recent trends in policy, establishes what we can learn from research and practice and sets out useful frameworks and approaches to address a range of problems that partnerships face.

PB £12.99 US$25.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 025 1
198 x 129mm 152 pages May 2008

Interprofessional education and training

John Carpenter, University of Bristol and Helen Dickinson, University of Birmingham

“Carpenter and Dickinson provide an introduction grounded in experience, evidence and scholarship with helpful pointers to dependable sources for further reading.”

International Journal of Integrated Care

This book provides a thorough introduction to interprofessional education in health and social care, examining the issues in detail and providing much needed practical advice.

PB £12.99 US$25.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 032 9
198 x 129mm 152 pages May 2008

Evaluating outcomes in health and social care

Helen Dickinson, University of Birmingham

“This volume offers a lifeline for those grappling with the complexities of partnership working and its consequences.”

Alison Petch, Research in Practice for Adults

This book provides an introduction to evaluation, outcomes and partnerships, summarising recent trends in policy and research, setting out useful frameworks and approaches and aiding policy makers and practitioners to more effectively evaluate partnerships.

PB £12.99 US$25.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 034 3
198 x 129mm 144 pages May 2008

Working in teams

Kim Jelphs and Helen Dickinson, University of Birmingham

“Overall, this book is comprehensive and well structured, giving students, nurses and managers the opportunity to become more self-aware and work towards better partnership working.”

Nursing Standard

This text introduces a range of theories, models and research to demonstrate the benefits – and pitfalls – inherent in teamwork, and provides frameworks and practical advice on how inter-agency teams may be made to function more effectively.

PB £12.99 US$25.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 033 6
198 x 129mm 144 pages May 2008
This important textbook series sets new standards in introducing social workers to the ideas, values and knowledge base necessary for professional practice. Reflecting the current curricula of the new social work degree and post-qualifying programmes, and structured around the framework of the National Occupational Standards, these core texts are designed for students undertaking professional training at all levels as well as fulfilling the needs of qualified staff. Written by leading authors in their fields, each book has been evaluated by a panel of experts, practitioners and educationalists to ground them firmly in the world of practice.

Religion, belief and social work

Making a difference

Sheila Furness and Philip Gilligan, University of Bradford

“This readily accessible book is most welcome. Written by authors who clearly understand the significance of spirituality and religious beliefs, it provides both frameworks and insights to inform and develop sensitive and competent practice.”

Jan Horwath, University of Sheffield

This book examines how religion and related beliefs have varied impacts on the needs and perceptions of practitioners, service users, and their support networks. The authors argue that social workers need to understand these phenomena, so that they can become more confident in challenging discriminatory and oppressive practices. This book is the first to deal with social work and religion so comprehensively and will therefore be essential reading for social work students, practitioners academics and researchers in the UK and beyond.

Contents: Introduction; The requirement to consider religion and spiritual beliefs; Frameworks and models to develop cultural competence in relation to religion and belief; Religion, belief and social work with children and families; Older people, religion and belief; Child abuse, adult abuse, religion and belief; Mental health, religion and belief; Learning disabilities, religion and belief; Religion, belief, migrants, refugees and asylum seekers; Faith-based social work: contributions, dilemmas and conflicts; Concluding remarks.

PB £16.99 US$28.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 981 1
HB £55.00 US$75.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 982 8
240 x 172mm 200 pages November 2009

Social work

Making a difference

Vivienne Cree, University of Edinburgh and Steve Myers, University of Salford

“A fascinating and novel approach to social work’s National Occupational Standards, bringing them to life with a skilful balance of detail and context. This book will make a difference to those who read it.”

Mark Doel, Sheffield Hallam University

This book explores what social work is. Structured around the framework of the National Occupational Standards for social work, the book examines how social work can make a difference in the lives of individuals, families and communities.

HB £55.00 US$75.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 779 4
240 x 172mm 208 pages May 2008

Communicating with children and young people

Making a difference

Michelle Lefevre, University of Sussex

“It provides a compelling case for a social work profession and practice committed to social justice. A must read.”

Chris Jones, University of Liverpool

This much-needed textbook provides a fresh understanding of the radical tradition and shows how it can be developed in contemporary social work.

PB £16.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 991 0
HB £60.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 992 7
240 x 172mm 200 pages May 2009

Radical social work in practice

Making a difference

Iain Ferguson and Rona Woodward, University of Stirling

“This is a timely book aspires to prepare social workers and other practitioners for this challenging set of roles and tasks. In particular, it aims to enthuse readers to develop the most powerful resource they have to offer in their direct work with children: themselves.

Contents: The significance of spirituality and religious beliefs, it provides both frameworks and insights to inform and develop sensitive and competent practice.”

Pam Trevithick, University of Bristol

It is now clear that if professionals are to make a real difference for children and young people, they must be able to engage and communicate with children themselves, not just their parents and carers. Practitioners must be able to listen to children, support them, keep them informed and fully involve them in matters that concern them. This timely book aspires to prepare social workers and other practitioners for this challenging set of roles and tasks. In particular, it aims to enthuse readers to develop the most powerful resource they have to offer in their direct work with children: themselves.

Contents: The requirement to consider religion and spiritual beliefs; Frameworks and models to develop cultural competence in relation to religion and belief; Religion, belief and social work with children and families; Older people, religion and belief; Child abuse, adult abuse, religion and belief; Mental health, religion and belief; Learning disabilities, religion and belief; Religion, belief, migrants, refugees and asylum seekers; Faith-based social work: contributions, dilemmas and conflicts; Concluding remarks.

HB £50.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 282 8
240 x 172mm 208 pages June 2010
Social work and multi-agency working
Making a difference
Edited by Kate Morris, University of Nottingham

“A valuable addition to the required reading for qualifying and post-qualifying programmes.”
Anne Quinney, Bournemouth University

Multi-agency working is a dominant characteristic of emerging policy and practice across the range of social care settings. This stimulating introductory text explores the challenges and opportunities for social work education and practice within the context of multi-agency working. It brings together leading experts from across a range of disciplines to give the reader insights into different social care settings. It includes perspectives of those using services as well as describing the relevant legal and policy context and offering an overview of key research findings and contains trigger questions and a recommended resources section within each chapter.

With an emphasis on identifying learning that can inform future practice, this text will be an essential text for both qualifying and post-qualifying social work students undertaking university-based modules or practice-based learning in services which address youth work, as well as specialist areas of practice. It also will be valuable for practitioners involved in delivering youth justice services, including those on post-qualifying social work training courses.

PB £16.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 945 3
HB £55.00 US$75.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 946 0
240 x 172mm 192 pages June 2008

Youth justice in practice
Making a difference
Bill Whyte, University of Edinburgh

“All those working in or interested in youth justice should ensure they read this book.”
John Whyte, University of Edinburgh

This book examines youth justice in a UK and international context, while drawing on the author’s experience in Scotland to highlight the challenges facing all jurisdictions in balancing welfare and justice. It explores the impact of political ideas and influences on both the structural and practical challenges of delivering youth justice and practice initiatives. The theoretical framework draws on social learning theory and the tradition of socio-education/social pedagogy as reflected in the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child.

This is the only book to focus specifically on the application of evidence to service delivery within youth justice. It will be an essential text for social work students undertaking university-based modules or practice-based learning in services which address youth crime and youth justice, as well as for other students interested in the application of criminology and youth justice principles. It will also be valuable for practitioners involved in delivering youth justice services, including those on post-qualifying social work training courses.

HB £55.00 US$75.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 840 1
240 x 172mm 256 pages November 2008

The short guide to social work
Robert Adams, University of Teesside

“An excellent introduction to present-day social work which does not patronise or compromise readers, or avoid dealing with the diversity and complexity of the tasks facing practitioners in today’s world. Robert Adams should be congratulated for his achievement.”
Carol Lewis, Bournemouth University

Features and benefits:

- Brief but comprehensive guide to social work
- Ideal for anyone interested in starting a career in social work or needing to know the basics of social work practice
- Student-friendly features make it perfect for the learning needs of students at all levels

This engaging and accessible book offers a concise overview of social work which will appeal to anyone needing a quick introduction to the subject. It contains essential information for all prospective and new social work students as well as current practitioners, the theories and policy and practice frameworks as well as current issues facing social work today. Illustrated with many examples from practice, it covers social work with many service user groups including children and families, adults, older people, disabled people and people with mental health problems as well as specialist areas of practice.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: Preparing for social work: Introducing social work; Qualifying programmes in social work; Becoming a social worker; Organisation, legal basis and regulation of social work; Part two: Practising social work: Social work with children, young people and families; Social work with adults and health-related services; Social work with older people; Social work with disabled people; Social work with mentally ill people; Social work with groups and communities.

198 x 129mm 208 tbc pages April 2010

Modernising social work
Critical considerations
Edited by John Harris and Vicky White, University of Warwick

“John Harris and Vicky White’s edited collection is a valuable addition to the growing critical literature on New Labour and social work.”
Iain Ferguson, University of Stirling

New Labour’s modernisation agenda has produced an avalanche of change that has posed formidable challenges for everyone involved in social work, whether as service users, practitioners or managers. Modernising social work provides a radical appraisal of the far-reaching changes in their theoretical, historical and policy contexts.

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 005 3
HB £55.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 006 0
240 x 172mm 216 pages March 2009

Social work, politics and society
From radicalism to orthodoxy
Kenneth McLaughlin

HB £65.00 US$110.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 045 9
234 x 156mm 192 pages July 2008
Rural social work
International perspectives
Richard Pugh, Keele University and Brian Cheers, University of South Australia

“Rural social work practice is rising up the education, training and research agenda; this text provides its champions and novices with stimulating and evidence-based ideas and information.”
Jill Manthorpe, King’s College London

In much of the West the concerns of rural people are marginalised and rural issues neglected. This stimulating book draws upon a rich variety of material to show why rural social work is such a challenging field of practice. It incorporates research from different disciplines and places to provide an accessible and comprehensive introduction to rural practice.

This book is relevant to planners, managers and practitioners not only in social work but also in other welfare services such as health and youth work, who are likely to face similar challenges.

Contents: Introduction; Contexts of practice; The social dynamics of small communities; Indigenous peoples; dispossession, colonisation and discrimination; The experience of other minorities; Problems and possibilities in rural practice; Models for practice 1: personal social services; Models for practice 2: community social work; Workforce issues; Conclusion.

PB £23.99 US$32.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 720 6
HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 721 3
234 x 152mm 272 pages February 2010
BASW/Poly Press titles

Social work in end-of-life and palliative care
Margaret Reith, Princess Alice Hospice, Esher and Malcolm Payne, St Christopher’s Hospice

“This is a must for social work teams working with end-of-life and palliative care issues, and a book I would have valued when in practice.”
Professional Social Work

Social work should help to strengthen individuals to achieve a respectful death and families to move forward in their lives. This valuable book focuses on practice interventions, advocating open communication and skilled interpersonal practice to help dying and bereaved people, their families and carers.

PB £18.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 414 3
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 415 0
229 x 152mm 256 pages April 2009

Customers in the United States and Canada: copies of this title are available from Lyceum Books: www.lyceumbooks.com
Recording in social work
Liz O’Rourke, training consultant

“The topic of recording is certainly one for which there exists little current literature, and this book makes an original and prominent contribution.”
Suzy Braye, University of Sussex

Features and benefits:
• Timely introduction to policy and theory behind recording, an area of difficulty and concern
• Based on empirical research with social workers which provides lessons from practice to highlight real problems
• Includes voices of social workers to illustrate real situations

Recording is regarded by most social workers as a necessary evil. The research from which this book arises found that recording is a highly complex and demanding aspect of professional practice. Why has such a critical activity received so little attention, despite the concerns over social work records identified with successive inquiries into tragic deaths?

This highly topical book explores the often conflicting demands on social workers as they record information on the case files, and will stimulate a long overdue debate as to how to achieve more effective recording in social work.

Contents:
Recording in context; Social work, risk and modernity; The social construction of the ‘real’ record; Setting the scene; The competing demands on recording; The resources and constraints which impact on the recording task; Recording dilemmas; Where do we go from here?

PB £18.99 US$32.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 756 4
240 x 172mm 256 tbc pages May 2010

Social work and global health inequalities
Practice and policy developments
Edited by Paul Bywaters, Coventry University, Eileen McLeod, University of Warwick and Lindsey Napier, University of Sydney

“I commend this timely collection that provides the intellectual underpinning for IFSW policy and other global policies on social work and health. It fills a huge gap in the social work literature.”
David N. Jones, President, International Federation of Social Workers (IFSW)

This book examines the relationship between social work and health inequalities in the context of globalisation.

HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 196 8
234 x 156mm 320 pages September 2009

Social work and child welfare politics
Through Nordic lenses
Edited by Hannele Forsberg, University of Tampere and Teppo Kröger, National Yang-Ming University

“This book is a welcome addition to the international policy literature... I recommend it to child welfare policy makers, researchers and practitioners.”
Karen Healy, University of Queensland

Drawing on contemporary research and debates from different Nordic countries, this book examines how social work and child welfare politics are produced and challenged as both global and local ideas and practices.

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 406 8
240 x 172mm 216 pages November 2009

Also available:

What is professional social work?
Malcolm Payne

PB £17.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 704 6
234 x 156mm 248 pages July 2006

HB £60.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 705 3
234 x 156mm 232 pages July 2006

Developing reflective practice
Making sense of social work in a world of change
Edited by Helen Martyn

PB £19.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 238 6
234 x 156mm 248 pages June 2000

Sexual issues in social work
Steve Myers and Judith Milner

PB £17.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 712 1
234 x 156mm 200 pages April 2007

Transforming society?
Social work and sociology
Graeme Simpson and Vicky Price

PB £18.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 741 1
HB £55.00 US$74.50 ISBN 978 1 86134 742 8
240 x 172mm 192 pages April 2007

Black issues in social work and social care
Mekada Graham

PB £18.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 845 6
234 x 156mm 208 pages June 2007
Children of the 21st century (Volume 2)
The first five years
Edited by Kirstine Hansen, Heather Joshi and Shirley Dex, Institute of Education

“This book brings together analyses of the UK’s most recent birth cohort by leading experts. The result is a unique and multidisciplinary portrait of how young children are faring at the start of 21st century.”
Jane Waldfogel, Columbia University School of Social Work, New York

This book documents the first five years of life of the children of the influential Millennium Cohort Study, which is tracking almost 19,000 babies born in 2000 and 2001 in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland. It takes an extended look at the children’s lives and development as they grow and begin formal education, and the implications for family policy, and service planning in health and social services.

The chapters in this book are written by experts across a wide range of social science and health fields that cuts across disciplinary boundaries. It is essential reading for academics, student and researchers in these fields and of interest to policy makers and practitioners.

Contents: Introduction; Child poverty in first five years of life Jonathan Bradshaw and John Holmes; Ethnicity, community and social capital Alice Sullivan; Parental relationships and parenting Elizabeth M. Jones; Partnership trajectories, parent and child well-being Kathleen E. Kiernan and Fiona K. Mensah; Employment trajectories and ethnic diversity Shirley Dex and Kelly Ward; Neighbourhoods and residential mobility Sosithenes C. Ketende, John W. McDonald and Heather Joshi; Childhood in the pre-school years Fiona Roberts, Sandra Mathers, Heather Joshi, Kathy Sylva and Elizabeth Jones; Changes in inequality and intergenerational mobility in Early Years assessments Jo Blanden and Stephen Machin; Ethnic inequalities in child outcomes Lorraine Dearden and Luke Sibieta; School choice Kirstine Hansen and Anna Vignoles; Teacher assessments in the first year of school Kirstine Hansen; Childhood overweight and obesity Lucy Jane Griffiths, Summer Sherburne Hawkins, Tim Cole, Catherine Law and Carol Deazeaux; Risk and resilience in childhood Ingrid Schoon, Helen Cheng, and Elizabeth E. Jones; Parental and child health Yvonne Kelly and Mel Bartley; Conclusions.

HB £60.00 US$95.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 476 1
240 x 172mm 320 pages February 2010
The UK Millennium Cohort Study series

Also available:

Children of the 21st century (Volume 1)
From birth to nine months
Edited by Shirley Dex and Heather Joshi, Institute of Education

HB £60.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 689 6
234 x 156mm 296 pages October 2005
The UK Millennium Cohort Study series

Kids online
Opportunities and risks for children
Edited by Sonia Livingstone and Leslie Haddon, London School of Economics and Political Science

“This impressive and essential book, central to the child digital safety debate.” Tanya Byron, consultant clinical psychologist

As the internet and new online technologies are becoming embedded in everyday life, there are increasing questions about their social implications and consequences. Children, young people and their families tend to be at the forefront of new media adoption but they also encounter a range of risky or negative experiences for which they may be unprepared, which are subject to continual change.

This book captures the diverse, topical and timely expertise generated by the EU Kids Online project, which brings together 70 researchers in 21 countries across Europe. Each chapter has a distinct pan-European focus resulting in a uniquely comparative approach.

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 439 6
234 x 156mm 296 pages September 2009

Making sense of Every Child Matters
Multi-professional practice guidance
Edited by Richard Barker, Northumbria University

“... A must-have for all those working with, planning for or studying the health and social care of children and their families.” Community Care 2009

This much-needed book examines the implications of the Every Child Matters (ECM) national and local framework for working with children. It analyses the key issues from the perspective of the different professions that make up the ‘new children’s workforce’ and explores interprofessional considerations.

The book includes practice issues and case examples from health, education, social work, playwork, children’s centres and early years, and considers the opportunities and challenges presented by the current agenda. It will be widely welcomed by tutors and practitioners alike, enabling readers to make sense of the legislation and national guidance, and to understand better the new agendas for children’s services.

PB £19.99 US$35.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 011 4
240 x 172mm 224 pages November 2008

Growing up with risk
Edited by Betsy Thom, Rosemary Sales and Jenny Pearce

PB £23.99 US$35.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 732 9
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 733 6
234 x 156mm 296 pages May 2007
Critical practice with children and young people

Edited by Martin Robb and Rachel Thomson, The Open University

“This is an important collection that takes a welcome critical stance on service integration and raises difficult questions about the costs and benefits of integration for policy makers and practitioners alike. The book presents the arguments in an accessible and readable fashion and is well written, thoughtful and challenging.” Simon Bradford, Brunel University

This reader provides a critical perspective on work with children and young people at a time of change. Written by experts with a wide range of academic and professional experience, it examines the ways that ideas inform practice, explores recent changes in the organisation of services, especially moves towards greater integration, and explores what it means to be a critical, reflective practitioner. Covering the whole age range from early years to youth, the book will be relevant to anyone working with children and young people, for example in social work, education, healthcare, youth work, youth justice and leisure services.

Contents: Introduction; Section one: The conceptual context; Section two: The organisational context; Section three: The personal and professional context.

PB £19.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 681 9
HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 682 6
240 x 172mm 272 pages July 2009

Children and young people’s worlds

Developing frameworks for integrated practice

Edited by Heather Montgomery and Mary Kellett, The Open University

“How do issues of theory and practice converge in the area of children's rights and participation? This collection brings impressive scope, specificity and insight to that key question.” Barrie Thorne, University of California, Berkeley, USA

This comprehensive reader combines theory with case studies to analyse the complications of children and young people's experiences in the UK and worldwide in the early 21st century. Using the voices of the children and young people themselves, key topics illustrate important contemporary issues and show how these impact on policy initiatives and practical interventions.

Contents: Introduction; Children, young people and politics in the UK Nigel Thomas; Children and international politics Karen Weeds; Children and young people’s participation Mary Kellett; Children, young people and their families in the UK Virginia Morrow; Children and families in an international context Heather Montgomery; Race, ethnicity and young people Anoop Nayak; International children's rights Afua Twum-Danso; Children, young people and the law Julia Fiona; Child protection Judith Masson; Children, young people and poverty Heather Montgomery; Children and consumer culture David Buckingham and Sara Bragg; Youth, religion and multiculture Anoop Nayak; Children, young people and sexuality Mary Jane Kehily; Children and young people's voices Mary Kellett.

PB £19.99 US$35.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 060 2
HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 388 7
240 x 172mm 227 pages July 2009

Working Together for Children series

Published in association with The Open University

This innovative and unique series brings together an interdisciplinary team of authors to provide an accessible collection of ideas, debates, discussion and reflection on childhood, practice and service for children. The books give voice to children’s and practitioners’ own accounts as well as providing research, policy analysis and examples of good practice.

Critical practice with children and young people

Edited by Martin Robb and Rachel Thomson, The Open University

Connecting with children

Developing working relationships

Edited by Pam Foley and Stephen Leverett, The Open University

“The book provides a robust understanding of the theories and research underpinning communication with children and shows how this knowledge can inform practice.” Professional Social Work

This accessible textbook illustrates how good communication and positive and participative relationships can be developed with children across the range of universal and specialist children’s services.

246 x 189mm 312 pages February 2008

Promoting children’s wellbeing

Policy and practice

Edited by Janet Collins and Pam Foley, The Open University

“... a useful and relevant addition to the bookshelves …” Social Work

This attractive and accessible textbook analyses and examines the policies, services and practice skills needed for collaborative, effective and equitable work with children.

246 x 189mm 312 pages April 2008

Changing children’s services

Working and learning together

Edited by Pam Foley and Andy Rixon, The Open University

“This book not only explain the issues effectively, … but also gives clear pointers as to how practice in working together can be improved.” Denny Hevey, University of Northampton

This attractive textbook critically examines the potential for closer ‘working together’, its effectiveness and its impact on children, parents and children's services as a whole.

PB £19.99 US$35.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 060 2
246 x 189mm 312 pages July 2008
Child poverty, evidence and policy

Mainstreaming children in international development
Nicola A Jones, Overseas Development Institute, London and Andy Summer, University of Sussex

“This book is a significant and timely contribution to an improved understanding of the neglected but all too important subject of child poverty and what to do about it. It is a must read for researchers and policy makers interested in child poverty and evidence-based advocacy and public policy.”
Assefa Bequele, African Child Policy Forum

This book is about mainstreaming children in international development and policy. It focuses on the role of children’s ‘voices’ (broadly defined) and the intersection of knowledge about childhood poverty, policy and practice. The book weaves together theory, mixed methods approaches and case studies spanning a number of policy sectors and diverse developing country contexts. The book provides an introduction to students and development professionals who are new to debates on children and development, while at the same time offering scholars in the field new methodological and empirical insights.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: Challenging orthodoxy: Children, knowledge and policy: Conceptualising childhood poverty and well-being; Knowledge generation and children; Integrating children’s voices in policy making; Part two: Case studies in children’s voice, vision and visability: Children, knowledge and policy in donor agencies; Children, knowledge and policy in Africa; Children, knowledge and policy in South Asia; Children, knowledge and policy in East Asia; Children, knowledge and policy in South America; Conclusions: Rethinking children, knowledge, policy and power.

HB £65.00 US$98.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 446 4
234 x 156mm 324 tbc pages November 2010

Children caring for parents with HIV and AIDS

Global issues and policy responses
Ruth Evans, University of Reading and Saul Becker, University of Nottingham

“This book represents an important landmark in childhood studies. Tackling issues of stigma and discrimination, through to the challenges of effective service provision, it powerfully reveals the complexities of the problems faced by child-carers and their families.” Allison James, University of Sheffield

The book makes a significant contribution to the growing research evidence on children and young carers and the impacts of HIV/AIDS on families globally, focusing on the experiences and perspectives of children who are caring for a parent with HIV in the global North and South.

HB £65.00 US$98.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 022 0
234 x 156mm 368 pages March 2009

Parental rights and responsibilities

Analysing social policy and lived experiences
Harriet Churchill, University of Manchester

“Harriet Churchill powerfully juxtaposes British policies around parenting with the experiences and perspectives of parents. This encounter is both a painful and productive one, enabling her to suggest ways in which parental rights and responsibilities might be re-thought.”
John Clarke, The Open University

This timely book examines parental rights to ‘welfare state support’ and parental responsibilities for child welfare in relation to recent social policy agendas pursued by the Labour government in the UK in the context of child well-being research, state welfare analysis and sociological research about parental perspectives and the multiple contexts of parenting and childhood. It calls for notions of parental rights and responsibilities which are more responsive to the diversity of parental perspectives and parenting contexts. The book is valuable reading for students, researchers and practitioners in social policy and child and family services.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: The broader context; Part two: The UK policy context under Labour; Part three: Parental perspectives, practices and lived experiences; Part four: Policy implications.

HB £65.00 US$98.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 091 6
240 x 172mm 208 tbc pages May 2010

Uprooted

The Shipment of Poor Children to Canada, 1867-1917
Roy Parker, Centre for Social Policy, Dartington

“This is a book of rare distinction. . . . based on a huge amount of further primary research. . . . This is a deeply humane book which deserves to be read and reflected upon.” British Journal of Canadian Studies

This book explores the economic, religious, political and personal forces that led to some 80,000 British children being sent to Canada between 1867 and 1915. How did this come about? What were the motives and methods of the people involved? Why did it come to an end? What effects did it have on the children involved and what eventually became of them? These are the questions Roy Parker explores in this meticulously researched work. His book – humane and highly professional – will capture and hold the interest of many: the academic, the practitioner and the general reader.

Contents: Part one: Setting the scene; Part two: Setbacks and anxieties; Part three: The field expands; Part four: The Canadian dimension; Part five: The ambiguities and obfuscation; Part six: The children and their parents; Part seven: A chapter closes; Part eight: A review.

PB £19.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 668 0
240 x 172mm 376 pages January 2010
Children’s agency, children’s welfare
A dialogical approach to child development, policy and practice

Carolus van Nijnatten, University of Utrecht

“Children’s agency, children’s welfare is an important and challenging book. It demonstrates the importance of the nature and quality of interactions for influencing child development and that these are central issues for the way child welfare workers and agencies operate and are organised.” Nigel Parton, University of Huddersfield

Human development is about the growth of agency, which children develop in interaction with their parents and families but if parental agency is insufficient, agency in the form of child welfare will be required to fill the gaps.

This book provides a holistic view of how children develop agency, combining social, psychological and child development aspects, as well as examining child welfare structures and the roles of social workers. This focus will make a contribution to current debates about child welfare and child protection and the book will therefore be essential reading for academics and researchers in social work, childhood studies, children’s policy and social policy.

Contents: Introduction; Child, welfare, agency; The development of individual agency; Social interaction and interactive agency; Social agency and social context; Diagnosis and dialogue; Change and co-construction; Dialogical management; Dialogical child welfare: conclusion.

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 489 1
240 x 172mm 208 tbc pages September 2010

The politics of parental leave policies
Children, parenting, gender and the labour market

Edited by Sheila Kamerman, Columbia University and Peter Moss, University of London

“Parental leave policy is on the agenda in many countries today. While the variation across countries has been well documented, this timely book fills an important gap by exploring the reasons behind that variation.” Jane Waldofgel, Columbia University School of Social Work

The politics of parental leave policies addresses how and why, and by whom, particular policies are created and subsequently developed in particular countries. It examines the factors that bring about variations in leave policy, covering 15 countries in Europe and beyond, and the European Union.

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 067 1
240 x 172mm 296 pages July 2009

Work, families and organisations in transition
European perspectives

Edited by Suzan Lewis, Middlesex University Business School, Julia Brannen, Institute of Education, University of London and Ann Nilsen, University of Bergen

“This thought-provoking book raises compelling questions about how contemporary ways of working can become compatible with socially sustainable workplaces, families and communities.” Rhona Rapoport, Former Director of the Institute of Family and Environmental Research

Based upon cross-national case studies of public and private sector workplaces, Work, families and organisations in transition illustrates how workplace practices and policies impact on employees’ experiences of ‘work-life balance’ in contemporary shifting contexts.

HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 220 0
240 x 172mm 224 pages July 2009

The National Evaluation of Sure Start
Does area-based early intervention work?

Edited by Jay Belsky, Jacqueline Barnes and Edward Melhuish

HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 950 7
234 x 156mm 240 pages November 2007

Child slavery now

Edited by Gary Craig

For full details see p 20.

PB £24.99 US$39.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 609 3
HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 610 9
234 x 156mm 320 tbc pages November 2010
Violent fathering and the risks to children
The need for change
Lynne Harne, University of Bristol

“Based on violent fathers’ own accounts the book raises essential questions about the inappropriate and unsafe parenting practices engaged in by these men.”
Marianne Hester, University of Bristol

Current family policy approaches emphasise the significance of paternal involvement in children’s lives, yet there has been a silence on violent and abusive fathering in these discourses. This is the first UK book to focus specifically on violent fathering, discussing original research in the context of domestic violence and emerging practice literature.

The book examines fathers’ perceptions of their domestic violence and its impact on children, their relationships with children and their parenting practices. It will be of interest to academics and professionals in family and child welfare policy, socio-legal studies, social work, criminology and other disciplines with an interest in domestic violence and child protection.

Contents: Introduction; Changing discourses on fathering in family policies; Children’s perspectives on violent fathers; Domestically violent perpetrators as fathers; Violent fathering; Can violent fathers change? The impact of perpetrator programmes; Conclusions: identifying and assessing the risks of violent fathering.

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 211 8
234 x 156mm 192 tbc pages May 2011

Contemporary fathering
Theory, policy and practice
Brid Featherstone, University of Bradford

“This book is an important tool in providing the background and the practical experience that is needed to deliver services that include fathers … It is well researched, scholarly and detailed.”
Children & Young People Now

This book explores diversity and complexity in fathering through psychoanalysis, sociology and psychology and analyses contemporary developments in social policies and welfare practices. Using a feminist perspective, it highlights the opportunities and dangers in contemporary developments for those wishing to advance gender equity.

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 987 3
HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 988 0
234 x 156mm 232 pages April 2009

Exploring concepts of child well-being Implications for children’s services
Nick Axford

HB £70.00 US$125.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 065 7
240 x 172mm 272 pages March 2008

Studies in Poverty, Inequality and Social Exclusion series

Children, politics and communication
Participation at the margins
Edited by Nigel Thomas, University of Central Lancashire

“Children, politics and communication makes a powerful case for better understanding how children communicate and how adults can listen to them with greater sensitivity. It focuses on marginalised children, but in doing so illuminates issues of general importance for child–adult and child–child relationships.”
Alan Prout, University of Warwick

Children, politics and communication questions many of the conventional ways in which children are perceived. It is about how they communicate and engage, how they organise themselves and their lives, and how they deal with conflict in their relationships and the world around them.

HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 184 5
234 x 156mm 216 pages May 2009

Also available:

Teenage pregnancy
The making and unmaking of a problem
Lisa Arai, University of London

“Lucid, analytic and controversial, it is a must-read for policy makers in the present and of the future.”
Rachel Thomson, The Open University

Focusing on the period from the late 1990s to the present, Teenage pregnancy examines who is likely to have a baby as a teenager, the consequences of early motherhood and how teenage pregnancy is dealt with in the media.

PB £22.99 US$37.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 074 9
HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 075 6
234 x 156mm 192 pages July 2009

Health and Society series

Children, families and social exclusion
New approaches to prevention
Kate Morris, University of Nottingham, Marian Barnes, University of Brighton and Paul Mason, University of Birmingham

“This important book helps put some of the excitement back into the issues surrounding prevention of the consequences of social exclusion, with messages worth thinking about – and acting on – for practitioners, policy makers and other researchers.”
Jane Tunstill, Royal Holloway, London University

In this book the authors use evidence from the National Evaluation of the Children’s Fund to explore the experiences of children and families who are most marginalised. They consider the historical context of approaches to child welfare, and present a new framework for understanding and developing preventative policies and practice.

PB £21.99 US$36.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 965 1
HB £65.00 US$99.00 ISBN 978 1 86134 966 8
234 x 156mm 168 pages February 2009

Participation at the margins
New approaches to prevention
Kate Morris, University of Nottingham, Marian Barnes, University of Brighton and Paul Mason, University of Birmingham

“This important book helps put some of the excitement back into the issues surrounding prevention of the consequences of social exclusion, with messages worth thinking about – and acting on – for practitioners, policy makers and other researchers.”
Jane Tunstill, Royal Holloway, London University

In this book the authors use evidence from the National Evaluation of the Children’s Fund to explore the experiences of children and families who are most marginalised. They consider the historical context of approaches to child welfare, and present a new framework for understanding and developing preventative policies and practice.
Ageing, health and care
Christina R. Victor, Brunel University Uxbridge

“Christina Victor’s authoritative text on ageing and health digs deep into the meaning and challenges of old age. It is essential reading for practitioners as well as gerontological specialists.” Fiona Ross, Kingston University and St George’s, University of London

The ageing of the population has enormous implications for the provision of, and access to, health care. Christina Victor’s important new textbook provides:

• a comprehensive overview of the experiences of older people
• chapters on physical health, mental health, disability and lifestyle
• a synthesis of current policy developments
• the key debates on the future health of older people
• an international, up-to-date perspective.

Written by a leader in the field, the book covers key questions such as the fitness of future older people, the widening inequalities in their health and whether health in old age is related to habits and behaviour in earlier life.

Contents: What is old age?; Health and mortality; Chronic disease and disability; Mental health and psychological well-being; Health consumption; Responding to needs: provision and utilisation of services; Health in the future?

PB £21.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 087 9
HB £65.00 US$85.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 088 6
240 x 172mm 208 tbc pages July 2010

Unequal ageing
The untold story of exclusion in old age
Edited by Paul Cann, Help the Aged and Malcolm Dean, The Guardian

“This is a book for our times: its wisdom and thoughtfulness will help us all adjust to life’s changing patterns.” Dame Joan Bakewell, Voice of Older People

This powerful book analyses the vital dimensions of money, health, place, quality of life and identity, and demonstrates the gaps of treatment and outcomes between older and younger people, and between different groups of older people. Written by leading experts in the field, it provides strong evidence of the scale of current disadvantage in the UK and suggests actions that could begin to change the picture of unequal ageing.

Unequal ageing is aimed at all those with a serious interest in the unprecedented challenge of our ageing society. It will be of importance to policy makers, opinion formers, and above all to older people themselves.

Contents: How social age trumped social class? Malcolm Dean; Too tight to mention: unequal income in older age Thomas Scharf; The uneven dividend: health and well-being in later life Anna Coote; No place like home? Housing inequality in later life Sue Adams; What does it mean to be old? Julia Neuberger; A life worth living? Quality of life in older age Bryan Appleyard; Why is ageing so unequal? Alan Walker, Rewriting the story Paul Cann.

PB £17.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 411 2
HB £60.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 412 9
234 x 156mm 192 pages September 2009

Calculating a fair market price for care
A toolkit for residential and nursing homes
William Laing, Laing & Buisson

This new and updated third edition of the bestselling Calculating a fair market price for care estimates the potential cost to the public sector of paying fair market fees to a fully modernised care home sector.

PB £14.95 US$27.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 315 3
297 x 210mm 56 pages September 2008
Published in association with the Joseph Rowntree Foundation

The future for older workers
New perspectives
Edited by Wendy Loretto, Sarah Vickerstaff and Philip J. White

Dealing directly and exclusively with the issue of older workers, this book brings together up-to-the-minute research findings by many of the leading researchers and writers in the field exploring key issues that will influence public policy in the UK and beyond.

PB £24.99.00 US$39.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 418 1
234 x 156mm 256 pages January 2009

Population ageing and international development
From generalisation to evidence
Peter Lloyd-Sherlock, University of East Anglia

“The 21st century is when the developing countries begin to match the 20th century ageing of the developed world. This timely book, by a leading authority in the field, is essential reading for everyone interested in ageing and development.”

Alan Walker, University of Sheffield

Over the next 40 years the number of people aged 60+ in the world, many of whom live in developing regions, will grow by 1.25 billion. What will old age be like for them? This original book provides an analysis of links between development, population ageing and older people, challenging some widely held misconceptions. It highlights the complexity of international experiences and argues that the effects of population ageing on development are influenced by policy choices. The book will be of interest to a range of academic disciplines, including economics, gerontology, social policy and development studies as well as policy makers and practitioners concerned with developing countries.

Contents: International development and population ageing; Experiencing later life in contexts of development; Older people, pensions and development; Population ageing and health; Later life and social relations: family, migration and care; Ageing and development in South Africa; Ageing and development in Argentina; Ageing and development in India; Conclusions and overview.

PB £22.99 US$39.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 192 0
HB £65.00 US$89.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 193 7
234 x 156mm 304 pages January 2010

The ageing of the population has enormous implications for the UK and beyond. This powerful book analyses the vital dimensions of money, health, place, quality of life and identity, and demonstrates the gaps of treatment and outcomes between older and younger people, and between different groups of older people. Written by leading experts in the field, it provides strong evidence of the scale of current disadvantage in the UK and suggests actions that could begin to change the picture of unequal ageing.

Unequal ageing is aimed at all those with a serious interest in the unprecedented challenge of our ageing society. It will be of importance to policy makers, opinion formers, and above all to older people themselves.

Contents: How social age trumped social class? Malcolm Dean; Too tight to mention: unequal income in older age Thomas Scharf; The uneven dividend: health and well-being in later life Anna Coote; No place like home? Housing inequality in later life Sue Adams; What does it mean to be old? Julia Neuberger; A life worth living? Quality of life in older age Bryan Appleyard; Why is ageing so unequal? Alan Walker, Rewriting the story Paul Cann.

PB £17.99 US$29.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 411 2
HB £60.00 US$80.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 412 9
234 x 156mm 192 pages September 2009

Don’t Miss

Pensions p 4

AGEING & OLDER PEOPLE
This wide-ranging series provides students, academics, professional and policy makers with much-needed texts on the latest research, policy and practice developments in the field. Focusing on the social rather than the medical aspects of ageing, each topical title summarises the key debates and developments in question, integrates theory and research and provides comprehensive referencing to key sources.

Managing the ageing experience
Learning from older people
Denise Tanner, University of Warwick
“A book which truly makes older people’s experiences central to understanding how best policy makers and practitioners might promote well-being in later life.”
Miriam Bernard, Keele University
Current social policy recognises that older people should be treated as experts in their own lives and be actively involved in their care. This book explores what can be learned from older people’s experiences of managing ageing. Direct connections are made between the everyday experiences and perspectives of older people, related research and theoretical perspectives. This yields an engaging and informative analysis of how older people manage the ageing experience and what this means for policy and practice directed at promoting older people’s well-being.

The book will be of value to undergraduate and postgraduate students in health and social care and practitioners in these fields.

PB £24.99 US$34.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 885 2
HB £65.00 US$95.95 ISBN 978 1 86134 886 9
240 x 172mm 224 tbc pages September 2010

Broadening the dementia debate
Towards social citizenship
Ruth Bartlett, University of Bradford and Deborah O’Connor, University of British Columbia
“This book offers a fresh perspective on dementia, one that is not afraid to address the challenges, but which asserts not only the continuing personhood and humanity, but also the agency and citizenship of those who live with dementia.”
Marian Barnes, University of Brighton
Dementia has been widely debated from the perspectives of biomedicine and social psychology. This book broadens the debate to consider the experiences of men and women with dementia from a socio-political perspective. It brings to the fore the concept of social citizenship, exploring what it means within the context of dementia and using it to re-examine the issue of rights, status(es) and participation. Most importantly, the book offers fresh and practical insights into how a citizenship framework can be applied in practice. It will be of interest to health and social care professionals, policy makers, academics and researchers. People with dementia and family carers may find it revitalising.

HB £65.00 US$99.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 178 4
240 x 172mm 240 tbc pages June 2010

Ageing and intergenerational relations
Family reciprocity from a global perspective
Edited by Misa Izuhara, University of Bristol
“The present global flux in generational relations means that this book is extremely well timed to fill a major gap in the literature. It should be a key text for both gerontology and social policy.”
Alan Walker, University of Sheffield
With socioeconomic and demographic changes taking place in contemporary societies, new patterns of family relations are forming partly due to significant family changes, value shifts, precariousness in the labour market, and increasing mobility within and beyond national boundaries.

This exciting book explores the exchange of support between generations and examines variations in contemporary practices and rationales in different regions and societies around the world. It draws on theoretical perspectives and empirical analyses to discuss both newly emerging patterns of family reciprocity and more established ones which are affected by changing opportunities and pressures in contemporary societies.

Contents: Introduction Misa Izuhara; Globalisation, global ageing and intergenerational change Chris Phillipson; Theoretical perspectives on intergenerational solidarity, conflict and ambivalence Ruth Katz and Ariela Lowenstein; Globalised transmissions of housing wealth and return migration Ricky Joseph; Housing wealth and family reciprocity in East Asia Misa Izuhara; Grandparents and HIV and AIDS in Sub-Saharan Africa Akpovire Oduaran and Choja Oduaran; Spiritual debts and gendered costs Pascale F. Engelmajer and Misa Izuhara; Reciprocity in intergenerational relationships in stepfamilies Lawrence H. Ganong and Marilyn Coleman; New patterns of family reciprocity? Policy challenges in ageing societies Misa Izuhara.

PB £24.99 US$39.95 ISBN 978 1 84742 204 0
HB £65.00 US$95.00 ISBN 978 1 84742 205 7
240 x 172mm 176 pages February 2010
Ageing and the Lifecourse series continued

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Family practices in later life</th>
<th>Community and ageing</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Pat Chambers, Keele University, Graham Allan, University of British Columbia, Chris Phillipson and Mo Ray, Keele University</td>
<td>Simon Evans, University of the West of England, Bristol</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“As both an academic social gerontologist and great-grandfather I can thoroughly recommend this groundbreaking book.”  John Vincent, University of Exeter</td>
<td>“This important book successfully pulls together the emergent literature on housing with care for older people and goes on to draw out the key issues for the future.”  Robin Means, University of the West of England</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

This exciting book challenges many common stereotypes about the nature of family involvement as people age. The book explores diversity and change in the family relationships older people maintain, looking at how family relationships are constructed and organised in later life.

HB £65.00  US$85.00  ISBN 978 1 84742 053 4
240 x 172mm 136 pages September 2009

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Ageing in urban neighbourhoods</th>
<th>Also available:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Allison E. Smith, Policy Advisor, Social Exclusion Task Force</td>
<td>Rural ageing</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| “Allison Smith ... engages in a pivotal debate on social exclusion and inclusion, exploring the experience of environmental pressure at a macro level and contributing to our theoretical and everyday understanding of ageing in place.”  Sheila Peace, Open University | A good place to grow old?
Edited by Norah C. Keating |

This unique book addresses older people’s attachment to deprived neighbourhoods and offers a re-conceptualisation of environmental gerontology. The author examines new cross-national research and challenges the common view that ageing ‘in place’ is optimal.

PB £25.99  US$41.95  ISBN 978 1 84742 270 5
HB £65.00  US$89.95  ISBN 978 1 84742 271 2
240 x 172mm 248 pages September 2009

| Valuing older people | Valuing Older People
A humanist approach to ageing |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Edited by Ricca Edmondson, National University of Ireland and Hans-Joachim Von Kondratowicz, German Centre of Gerontology and EBSSRS</td>
<td>A humanist approach to ageing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“It is a remarkable collection, drawn from all over the globe, of the best thinking on what it means to grow older.”  Harry R. Moody, AARP</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

How can we understand older people as real human beings, value their wisdom, and appreciate that their norms and purposes both matter in themselves and are affected by those of others? Using a life-course approach this book argues that the complexity and potential creativity of later life demand a humanistic vision of older people and ageing.

PB £25.99  US$41.95  ISBN 978 1 84742 291 0
HB £65.00  US$89.95  ISBN 978 1 84742 292 7
240 x 172mm 312 pages July 2009

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Community and ageing</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Maintaining quality of life in housing with care settings</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

This important book investigates changing concepts and experiences of community across the lifecourse and into older age and how they play out in housing with care settings. An overview of how the housing with care sector has developed, both in the UK and internationally, is provided. The book emphasizes the central importance of a sense of community for older people’s quality of life and explores the impact of a range of factors including social networks, inclusive activities, diversity and the built environment.

PB £24.99  US$39.95  ISBN 978 1 84742 070 1
HB £65.00  US$85.00  ISBN 978 1 84742 071 8
240 x 172mm 168 pages September 2009

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Also available:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| Rural ageing
A good place to grow old?
Edited by Norah C. Keating |

This important book investigates changing concepts and experiences of community across the lifecourse and into older age and how they play out in housing with care settings. An overview of how the housing with care sector has developed, both in the UK and internationally, is provided. The book emphasizes the central importance of a sense of community for older people’s quality of life and explores the impact of a range of factors including social networks, inclusive activities, diversity and the built environment.

240 x 172mm 168 pages May 2008

| Valuing Older People
A humanist approach to ageing |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Edited by Miriam Bernard and Thomas Scharf, Keele University</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Voluntary Sector Review
An international journal of third sector research, policy and practice
Editor: Peter Halfpenny, University of Manchester, UK; Assistant Editor: Pete Alcock
University of Birmingham, UK; Assistant Editor: Cathy Pharaoh
Cass Business School, City University, London, UK
Free online for institutions in 2010.
Email: top-vsr-trial@bristol.ac.uk to sign up
“The importance attached to the voluntary sector in European welfare states has continued to grow. Voluntary Sector Review’s wide scope and European focus will be most welcome.” Jane Lewis, London School of Economics and Political Science
Volume 1 2010 (3 issues) March, July and November
ISSNs Print: 2040-8056 Online: 2040-8064
Aims and scope
Voluntary Sector Review is the first European-based journal to publish high-quality, peer-reviewed, accessible papers on third sector research, policy and practice. It will be an invaluable cutting-edge resource for all those researching or working in the fast-growing voluntary, community and wider third sectors.
Voluntary Sector Review will cover voluntary sector studies from a variety of disciplines, including sociology, social policy, politics, psychology, economics, business studies, social anthropology, philosophy and ethics. The journal will include work from the UK, Europe and beyond where cross-national comparisons are illuminating.
Rigorous and stimulating, Voluntary Sector Review will be an indispensable tool for everyone who values empirically grounded, theoretically informed and policy-relevant reviews of the future direction of the voluntary sector.

The Journal of Poverty and Social Justice (formerly known as Benefits)
Editors: Fran Bennett, University of Oxford and Caroline Paskell, London School of Economics and Political Science
“... an important clearing-house for the latest national and international thinking on ideas, findings and implications relating to social policy – essential reading for anyone working in the field” Peter Saunders, University of New South Wales
Aims and scope
The Journal of Poverty and Social Justice provides research, policy and practice from leading authors essential for academics, practitioners and policy makers. Focusing on poverty and social exclusion, the journal explores links with social security, employment, area regeneration, housing, health, education and criminal justice, as well as ethnicity, gender, disability and other social inequality issues.

Policy & Politics
Joint Editors: Geetanjali Gangoli, University of Bristol and Tony Fitzpatrick, University of Nottingham; Associate Editor: Simon Pemberton, University of Bristol
“This widely cited journal offers original analyses and lively debate by prominent academics in the field – mandatory reading for social and public policy scholars.” Neil Gilbert, University of California, Berkeley
Aims and scope
Policy & Politics is a leading journal in the field of public policy with an enviable reputation for publishing peer-reviewed papers of the highest quality. It explores the fit between theory and empirical applications and links macro-scale political economy debates with micro-scale policy studies. The journal is unique in cutting across a wide range of policy areas, with an increasingly international reach.

Evidence & Policy
A Journal of Research, Debate and Practice
Joint Managing Editors: Annette Boaz, King’s College London and David Gough, Institute of Education, University of London
“This journal contributes significantly to our understanding of how and where evidence influences policy not only by broadening the horizons of researchers and policy makers on what counts in the decision process, but by its focus on experience in the field.” Fred Carden, International Development Research Centre, Canada
Aims and scope
Evidence & Policy is the first peer-reviewed journal dedicated to comprehensive and critical treatment of the relationship between research evidence and the concerns of policy makers and practitioners, as well as researchers. International in scope and interdisciplinary in focus, it addresses the needs of those who provide public services, and those who provide the research base for evaluation and development across a wide range of social and public policy issues – from social care to education, from public health to criminal justice.

2010 Subscription rates
Voluntary Sector Review is available free online to institutions in 2010. Each of the other journals is available to institutions as a print and online or online-only subscription, with online access provided through Ingeni. Personal customers can subscribe to the print version of the journals. Combination packages of our journals (including Voluntary Sector Review) are also available at a discount, and reduced rate personal subscriptions are available via a number of associations and networks.
For full details of our subscription rates and how to subscribe visit www.policypress.co.uk/journals.asp or order directly with Portland Customer Services, Commerce Way, Colchester, CO2 8HP T: +44 (0)1206 796 351; F: +44 (0)1206 799 331; e: sales@portland-services.com; w: www.portland-services.com
Abel, Gillian, 25
Adams, Robert, 33
Allen, Dan, 43
Allen, Rob, 26
Andersson, Roger, 22
Atanasov, Jo, 2
Arai, Lisa, 10
Atkinson, Rowland, 17
Atkinson, Tony, 9
Asford, Nick, 40
Baby, Samuel, 27
Baggott, Rob, 3
Bagguley, Paul, 22
Baghilah, Barbara, 2, 19
Baker, Kerry, 24, 26
Ball, Stephen J., 4
Banks, Sarah, 18
Barker, Richard, 36
Barnes, Jacqueline, 39
Barnes, Marian, 12, 40
Barnes, Jacqueline, 39
Banks, Sarah, 18
Bartlett, Ruth, 30
Becker, Saul, 2, 3, 38
Bean, Philip, 23
Berglund, Ivar, 20
Bennett, Robin, 43
Benson, David, 3
Bennett, Tony, 27
Beresford, Peter, 30
Bernard, Miriam, 43
Benington, John, 27
Birrell, Derek, 9
Blyth, Maggie, 26
Bobchel, Hugh, 6, 7
Branfield, Fran, 30
Branche, Julie, 39
Brent, Jeremy, 18
Brannen, Julia, 39
Blyth, Maggie, 26
Forsberg, Hannele, 35
Freya, Belinda, 6
Furbey, Robert, 20
Furness, Sheila, 32
Gallant, Nick, 16
Gobobaseba, Tshwane, 29
Gebel, Michael, 9
George, Vic, 10
Ghosh, Christopher, 17
Gordon, David, 5, 7
Gough, Dennis, 23, 26
Graham, Mekada, 35
Greer, Scott L., 12
Graham, Mekada, 35
Greener, Ian, 7, 13, 28
Greer, Scott L., 12
Griffiths, David, 22
Gunni, Einar, 33
Haddow, Leslie, 36
Haines, Steve, 19
Hall, Peter, 17
Hamnett, Chris, 17
Hann, Alison, 27, 28
Hansen, Kristine, 36
Harne, Lynne, 40
Harris, Jane, 33
Hartley, Jean, 27
Hayden, Carol, 26
Healy, Catherine, 25
Hedge, Gai, 7
Henderson, Paul, 18
Higgs, Paul, 43
Hill, Michael, 4
Hills, John, 7, 15
Hodgson, Susan M., 7
Hoggett, Paul, 18
Holden, Chris, 7, 8
Holloway, Margaret, 30
Hoppe, Robert, 11
Hough, Mike, 26
Houghton, John, 15
Hudson, John, 3, 6
Hunter, David J., 4, 27
Husain, Fatima, 20
Husain, Yasmine, 22
Hyde, Martin, 4
Hynes, Patricia, 21
Iganski, Paul, 24
Irlam, John, 7
Ishara, Mihira, 43
Jawad, Rana, 9, 19
Jelphs, Kim, 31
Johnson, Kelley, 19
Jones, Nancy, 38
Jordan, Bill, 12
Joshi, Heather, 36
Kameran, Shelia, 39
Keating, Nuala C., 43
Kellett, Mary, 37
Kelly, Gill, 24, 25
Kennedy, Carole, 28
Kennedy, Peter, 28
Kilkenny, Majella, 7
King, Rizwana, 17
Kogan, Irena, 9
Kröger, Teppo, 35
Kuhner, Stefan, 6
Kvist, Jan, 9
Laing, William, 41
Law, Alex, 2, 6
Lawlor, Debbie A., 29
Le Grand, Julia, 20
Leathard, Audrey, 30
Ledwith, Margaret, 18
Le Fevere, Michele, 32
Lepine, Eileen, 12
Leverett, Stephen, 37
Lewin, Eileen, 5
Lester, Ruth, 2
Lester, Stuart, 24
Lightfield, Rosemary, 30
Livingstone, Sonia, 36
Lloyd-Sherlock, Peter, 41
Loretto, Wendy, 41
Love, Stuart, 3, 4, 6
Lowendes, Vivien, 20
Lund, Birgna, 3
Lundqvist, Åsa, 20
Lupton, Ruth, 15
Mifsud, John, 29
Mahony, Nick, 12
Marks, Linda, 27
Marlifer, Eric, 9
Marten, Helen, 35
Mason, Paul, 40
Matthews, Roger, 26
Mau, Steffen, 8
Mayo, Marjorie, 18
McEgan, Janie, 30
Mclaren, Susan, 30
McLaughlin, Kenneth, 33
McLeod, Eileen, 35
McNeish, Wallace, 2
Melby, Kari, 20
Melhuish, Edward, 39
Millar, Jane, 3
Miller, Chris, 18
Millie, Andrew, 25
Millward Hayes, Liz, 16
Millner, Judith, 35
Monaghan, Mark, 11
Montgomery, Heather, 37
Mooney, Gerry, 2, 6
Moore, Robert, 22
Moran, Ruairi, 22
Morris, Kate, 33, 40
Moss, Peter, 39
Mumford, Katharine, 15
Mutter, Sasso, 22
Myers, Steve, 32, 35
Napier, Lindsey, 35
Newman, Janet, 12
Newman, Robert, 26
Ngô, King Lun, 9
Nilsen, Ann, 3
Noelke, Clemens, 9
Nolan, Brian, 9
North, David, 17
Nutley, Sue, 12
O'Connor, Deborah, 42
O'Neill, Maggie, 21
O'Neill, Martin, 29
O'ourke, Liz, 35
Palmer, Lyle J., 29
Papadopoulos, Theodora, 21
Paris, Chris, 16
Parke, Roy, 38
Payne, Esher, 34
Payne, Malcolm, 34, 35
Perry, Janne, 36
Peck, Edward, 31
Peckham, Stephen, 27, 28
Pederson, Willy, 25
Pitch, Alison, 30
Philimore, Peter, 5
Phillips, David, 16
Phillips, Judith, 42
Phillipson, Chris, 5, 43
Phoenix, Jo, 23
Piazzalunga, David, 7
Platt, Lucinda, 14
Ploeger, Jörg, 15
Porter, Alison, 29
Postle, Karen, 30
Powell, Martin, 3, 6, 13
Power, Anne, 15
Price, Vicky, 35
Prior, David, 12
Pugh, Richard, 34
Punch, Maurice, 23, 26
Pyroft, Aaron, 23
Raco, Mike, 18
Ransome, Paul, 10
Ray, Mo, 43
Rees Jones, Ian, 43
Reith, Margaret, 34
Richardson, Jo, 13
Richardson, Liz, 12, 15
Ridg, Tess, 3
Rixon, Andy, 37
Robb, Martin, 37
Roberts, Chris, 29
Robson, Jim, 18
Robinson, David, 17
Robinson, Vaughan, 22
Romito, Patrizia, 26
Ruebain, David, 19
Rys, Vladimir, 7
Saari, Juho, 9
Sales, Stephen, 22, 36
Salomon, Margot E., 5
Sandberg, Steven, 25
Satsangi, Madhu, 16
Scharf, Thomas, 17
Sefton, Tom, 15
Seiler, Victor Jeleniewski, 10
Shaffi, Wahida, 20
Shaw, Jon, 13
Shaw, Mary, 28, 29
Sigona, Nando, 22
Simmons, Richard, 13
Simmons, Caroline, 34, 35
Simpson, Ludi, 22
Smith, Allison, E., 43
Smith, Ian, 17
Smith, Katherine E., 27
Smith, Mark, 34
Snooks, Helen, 29
Solera, Cristina, 19
Soriano, Inver, 26
Somervile, Will, 22
Spake, Basia, 20, 25
Speeden, Stuart, 6
Spencer, Nick I., 29
Spencer, Sarah, 4, 21
Spicker, Paul, 6, 14
Springett, Jane, 18
Squires, Peter, 24
Stewart, Kitty, 15
Sumner, Andy, 38
Sutherland, Alexander, 26
Syrett, Stephen, 17
Tanner, Denise, 42
Taylor, Aline, 25
Taylor, Marilyn, 17
Temple, Bogusia, 22
Thom, Betty, 36
Thomas, Bethan, 28
Thomas, Nigel, 40
Thomson, Rachel, 37, 39
Towers, Chris, 5
Tudor Hart, Julian, 29
Turnball, Paul J., 26
Valkenburg, Ren, 9
van Berkel, Rik, 9
Van Dongen, Walter, 8
van Nijnattan, Carolus, 39
Veriscegi, Ilona, 18
Verwiebe, Roland, 8
Vickerstaff, Sarah, 41
Victor, Christina R., 41, 43
Von Kondratowicz, Hans-Joachim, 43
Walker, Alan, 5
Walmsley, Jan, 19
Walter, Isabel, 12
Wheeler, Ben, 29
White, Philip J., 41
White, Vicky, 33
Whitehead, Philip, 24
Whyte, Bill, 33
Wiggins, Richard D., 43
Wilkinson, Bernadette, 24, 25
Williams, Gareth, 29
Williams, Lewis, 14
Williamson, Charlotte, 28
Winkler, Astrid, 15
Wolfe, Marie, 19
Woodward, Ron, 32
Wright, Chris, 26
Wright, Sharon, 3
Yeandle, Sue, 19
Yeates, Nicola, 5, 8
Zetter, Roger, 22
Methods of payment
Organisations, institutions and companies can be invoiced and receive books on account. We regret this service is not available for personal orders from individuals. We accept payment by cheque (in sterling) payable to Marston Book Services, or by credit/debit card (Mastercard, Visa, American Express and Maestro).

Postage and packing charges
The postage and packing charges quoted on the order form are based on standard weight. However, as we aim to send our orders in the most cost-effective way, the final cost may vary.

Despatch and delivery
Orders will be processed and despatched within 5-7 days. All our overseas orders are despatched by airmail. Please allow 7 days for delivery in the UK and 2-4 weeks for all other orders.

Unavailable items
If any title you order is not yet published or is being reprinted, your order will be recorded and you will be sent notification. As soon as the title becomes available it will be forwarded to you automatically.

Guarantee
If, for any reason, you are not completely satisfied with your purchase, please return the goods with a covering letter within 14 days. We will replace the goods or give a full refund.

Inspection copies
Books marked ‘Inspection copy available’ are available to lecturers teaching appropriate courses. If you would like to request an inspection copy please visit the ‘How to order’ pages at www.policypress.co.uk.

Promotional codes
Promotional codes are available on certain books highlighted in the catalogue or through specific offers available on our website or through our email alerts. Make sure you receive your discounts by quoting any relevant codes when you place your order.

Ordering your books from The Policy Press is easy. Simply choose the method that is most convenient for you:

Online
Customers in the UK and all territories other than those listed below, visit: www.policypress.co.uk
Customers in US and Canada, visit: www.isbs.com
Customers in Australia, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, Taiwan, Malaysia and Brunei, please refer to your local distributor as detailed on the inside back page.

Telephone
Customers in the UK and all territories other than those listed below, call Marston Book Services on: +44 (0)1235 465500
Customers in US and Canada, call ISBS on:
Toll free: +1 800 944 6190
Customers in Australia, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, Taiwan, Malaysia and Brunei, please refer to your local distributor as detailed on the inside back page.

Fax
Customers in the UK and all territories other than those listed below, use: +44 (0)1235 465556
Customers in US and Canada, toll-free fax to: +1 503 280 8832
Customers in Australia, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, Taiwan, Malaysia and Brunei, please refer to your local distributor as detailed on the inside back page.

Email
Customers in the UK and all territories other than those listed below, email your order to: direct.orders@marston.co.uk
Customers in US and Canada, email ISBS on: info@isbs.com
Customers in Australia, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, Taiwan, Malaysia and Brunei, please refer to your local distributor as detailed on the inside back page.

Post
Customers in the UK and all territories other than those listed below, please send your order to:
Marston Book Services, PO Box 269, Abingdon, Oxon, OX14 4YN, UK
Customers in US and Canada, please send your order to:
International Specialized Book Services (ISBS)
920 NE 58th Avenue, Suite 300, Portland, OR 97213-3786, USA
Customers in Australia, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, Taiwan, Malaysia and Brunei, please refer to your local distributor as detailed on the inside back page.

Remember
To subscribe to our journals, please contact:
The Policy Press, c/o Portland Customer Services,
Commerce Way, Colchester, CO2 8HP, UK
Tel: +44 (0)1206 796351 Fax: +44 (0)1206 799331
Email: sales@portland-services.com www.portland-services.com
For details of how to order, see overleaf

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>ISBN</th>
<th>Price</th>
<th>Qty</th>
<th>Total</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Postage and packaging £2.75 for the first book and 50p per book thereafter (UK)
£4.00 per book (Europe)
£5.85 for the first book and $1.85 per book thereafter (US)
$11.85 for the first book and $2.85 per book thereafter (Canada)
£8.00 per book (Rest of the World)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Methods of payment</th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Please invoice my organisation/institution/company on account</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I enclose a cheque made payable to Marston Book Services/ISBS for: £/$</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Please charge my credit/debit card for the sum of: £/$</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Card number
Issue number
CSC
Valid from  Expiry date
Name on card (block capitals please)
Signature

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Deliver to (block capitals please)</th>
<th>Invoice to (if different from delivery address)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Name</td>
<td>Name</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Job title</td>
<td>Job title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Organisation/Institution/Company</td>
<td>Organisation/Institution/Company</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Address</td>
<td>Address</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Postcode/Zipcode</td>
<td>Postcode/Zipcode</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Country</td>
<td>Country</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Telephone no</td>
<td>Telephone no</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Email address</td>
<td>Email address</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Join our email alert service
If you would like to receive regular updates, with information about our new publications as well as specific highlights, exclusive discounts and promotions by email, please tick here
Email address

DATA PROTECTION: We will hold your details on our database to inform you of future publications. Please tick here if you prefer not to receive information by post
Your data will not be sold or given to any third party for marketing purposes.
Distributors
UK, Europe, and Rest of the World (excluding the areas listed below)
Marston Book Services
PO Box 269
Abingdon, Oxon OX14 4YN
UK
t: +44 (0)1235 465500
f: +44 (0)1235 465556
e: direct.orders@marston.co.uk www.marston.co.uk

USA and Canada
International Specialized Book Services
920 NE 58th Avenue, Suite 300
Portland, OR 97213-3786
USA
Toll free:
t: +1 800 944 6190
f: +1 503 280 8832
e: orders@isbs.com
www.isbs.com

Australia, New Zealand and Papua New Guinea
DA Information Services
Central Book Services
648 Whitehorse Road
Mitcham, Victoria 3132
Australia
t: +61 (3) 9210 7777
f: +61 (3) 9210 7788
e: service@dadirect.com
www.dadirect.com

Malaysia and Brunei
UBSD Distribution Sdn Bhd
3F-15, IOI Business Park
1 Persiaran Puchong Jaya Selatan
Bandar Puchong Jaya
47100 Puchong, Selangor
Malaysia
t: +603 8076 3042
f: +603 8076 3142
e: enquiry@ubsd-dist.com
www.ubsd-dist.com

Taiwan
Unifacmanu Trading Company Ltd
4F, 91, Ho-Ping East Road Section 1
Taipei 10609, Taiwan
t: +886 (2) 2394 2749
f: +886 (2) 2394 3103
e: unfacmu@ms34.hinet.net
www.unifacmanu.com.tw

Trade Representatives
UK
Compass Academic Ltd
13 Progress Business Centre
Whittle Parkway
Slough SL1 6DG
UK
t: +44 (0)1628 559500
f: +44 (0)1628 663876
e: CA@compass-academic.co.uk www.compass-dsa.co.uk

Europe
Andrew Durnell
Durnell Marketing Ltd
2 Linden Close
Tunbridge Wells
Kent TN4 8HH
UK
t: +44 (0) 1892 544272
f: +44 (0) 1892 511152
e: orders@durnell.co.uk

India, Sri Lanka, Nepal, Bangladesh and Bhutan
Surit Mitra
Maya Publishers Pvt Ltd
4821, Parwana Bhawan (3rd Floor)
24 Ansari Road, Daryaganj
New Delhi, 110002
India
t: +91 (11) 6471 2521
f: +91 (11) 2324 3829
e: surit@vsnl.com

Pakistan
Tahir Lodhi
Publishers Representative
14-G Canalberg H.S
Multan Road Lahore,53700
Pakistan
t: +92 42 543 7947
f: +92 42 543 7948
e: tahirlodhi@gmail.com

South Africa
Mark Hackney
Blue Weaver
Specialist Publishers Representatives
PO Box 30370
Tokai, South Africa, 7966
t: +27-(0)21-701-4477
e: info@blueweaver.co.za
www.blueweaver.co.za

Thailand, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Korea, China, Singapore, Malaysia, Philippines and Vietnam
Tony Poh Leong Wah
STM Publishers Services Pte Ltd
Block 52
Chao Chu Kang North 6
#12-19, Yew Mei Green,
689575 SINGAPORE
t: +65 (6) 468 0818
e: leongwah@singnet.com.sg

Middle East and North Africa
Hani Kreidieh
Bau Area
Iskandarani Building #6
Beirut
Lebanon
t: +961 (2) 763022
e: hani_k@cyberia.net.lb

Agents and Recommended Stockists
China
CNPIEC
Book Order Division
16 Gongti East Road
Beijing 100020
China
t: +86 (10) 65867008
f: +86 (10) 65063075

BPiec
Room 608, 235 Wangfujing Street,
Beijing, 100006
China
t: +86 (10) 65126910
f: +86 (10) 65126930
e: bpiet@public3.bta.net.cn
www.bpiet.com.cn

Germany, Switzerland and Austria
Missing Link International Booksellers
Westerstr 114-116
28199 Bremen, Germany
t: +49 (421) 504348
f: +49 (421) 504316
e: info@ missing-link.de www.missing-link.de

Japan
Kinokuniya Company Ltd
38-1, Sakuragaoka
5-chrome, Setagaya-ku
Tokyo 156-8691
Japan
t: +81 (03) 3439 0161
f: +81 (03) 3439 0839
e: bkimp@kinokuniya.co.jp
www.kinokuniya.co.jp

Maruzen Company Ltd
c/o Kawasaki SRC
2-32-1 Sakuramoto
Kawasaki-ku, Kawasaki City
Kanagawa 210-0833
Japan
t: +81 (04) 4271 4774
f: +81 (04) 4271 4779
e: yoshobu@maruzen.co.jp
www.maruzen.co.jp

Far Eastern Bookstellers
KyoKuto Shoten Ltd
12 Kanda-Jimbocho
2-Chome, Chiyoda-Ku
Tokyo 101-8672
Japan
t: +81 (03) 3265 7531
f: +81 (03) 3265 4656
e: info@kyokuto-bk.co.jp
www.kyokuto-bk.co.jp

Mexico
PROBOOKS S.A. de C.V.
Retorno 9, #10,
Col. Avante
04460, Coyoacán, México, D.F.
México
t: +52 (55) 55495660 or 55495183
f: +52 (55) 5697193
e: contacto@probooks.com.mx
www.probooks.com.mx

Thailand
Booknet Co. Ltd
1173, 1175, 1177, 1179 Srinakharin Road
Suan Luang, Bangkok 10250, Thailand
t: +66 (2) 322 3678
f: +66 (2) 721 1639
e: aung@book.co.th

Design: Qube Design Associates Ltd
Cover image: © Paul Box (www.reportdigital.co.uk) A young family with a low income at their rented home in Weston-super-Mare