

JOURNAL OF POVERTY AND SOCIAL JUSTICE

Editors: Fran Bennett, University of Oxford, UK and Stephen McKay, University of Birmingham, UK

- Broad spectrum of global inequality and poverty-related topics
- Scholarly, peer-reviewed articles
- Unique blend of high-quality international research, policy and practice
- Cutting edge discussions and analysis of topical issues
- An essential resource for academics, policy makers and practitioners

www.policypress.co.uk

"Edited by a very talented team, the Journal of Poverty and Social Justice is a key journal in the field. Required reading for those interested in social security, the welfare state and justice and poverty – now far more widely defined."

Danny Dorling, University of Sheffield

ISSN Print 1759-8273

Online 1759-8281

JOURNAL OF POVERTY AND SOCIAL JUSTICE

"The Journal plays a unique role in mapping the vicissitudes of social policy and programmes in the new post-crisis world"

Ian Gough, London School of Economics & Political Science

Visit www.policypress.co.uk/journals.asp for more details, including:

- Free trial offer and Tables of Contents alerts sign-up
- Journal collections and online-only subscription options
- Online subscriber access to full content since 2000
- Free electronic table of contents alerting
- How to submit an article
- Recent and forthcoming papers
- Information about inclusion in the Portico digital preservation service

"In the current climate of retrenchment the Journal serves as an important source of information on social policy issues and provides an excellent forum for following the ongoing discourse on their impact."

Abraham Doron, Hebrew University of Jerusalem

www.policypress.co.uk

ISSN Print 1759-8273

Online 1759-8281